Marin Lawman Nabs Escaped Prison Felon

Bigamist Picked Up Walking On Highway

A San Diego County bigamist, serving time in San Quentin Prison, walked out of prison about 3 a.m. today, but did not get far.

San Quentin officials issued an all-points bulletin for Paul Falk, 42, who was held in minimum custody in a dairy ranch dormitory. He had climbed a high fence to escape, leaving a rolled blanket "dummy" in his dormitory bed.

Marin law enforcement agencies immediately put into effect their "plan A" for blocking all exits from the area.

MAN IN DENIMS

About 3:15 a.m. Deputy Sheriff Edward A. Koehn spotted a man in denims walking north on Highway 101 near California Park overpass and stopped him for a chat. The conversation went something like this:

"Where are you going?"

"To Washington to pick apples."

"Where did you come from?"

"Oh just down the road." The man was perspiring profusely.

"You have any identification?" "No."

"What's your name?"

"Paul Falk," came the honest reply.

"You're under arrest," said Deputy Koehn, as he slapped handcuffs on the convict and gave him a ride to the sheriff's office, where San Quentin officials picked him up.

'WELL DONE'

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos praised Deputy Koehn for "a job well done."

Falk entered San Quentin in December of 1960 for a six-month to 10-year sentence. He was denied parole in July by the Adult Authority.

The escape was discovered at the 3 a.m. bed check. Falk will be referred to the prison disciplinary committee next Tuesday and to the Marin district attorney for prosecution.

FREEDOM WAS BRIEF—Deputy Sheriff Edward A. Koehn removes handcuffs from San Quentin prisoner Paul Falk at Marin County Jail. Falk escaped from the prison dairy farm but got only as far as California Park, where he encountered Koehn. He said he was headed for Washington to pick apples. (Independent-Journal photo)

Abandoned Car Leads To Fear Of Span Leap

Demo Leader's Son Missing Since Saturday

Discovery of an abandoned Mercedes-Benz near the Golden Gate Bridge toll plaze led today to fear that the son of a vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee may have died in the waters of San Francisco Bay.

The red roadster, registered to Hickman Price III, 20, of Palo Alto, was first noted Tuesday in a parking lot near the toll plaza, reported Sgt. William Roberts of the California Highway Patrol. When it was still there yesterday, officers started an investigation.

SOUNDED DEPRESSED

They found young Price had been unreported since last Saturday. On that day a friend, Lola Behr, 19, daughter of County Supervisor and Mrs. Peter H. Behr of 212 Del Casa Drive, Mill Valley, talked with him by telephone. "She said he sounded depressed," Roberts said.

Price's mother, Margaret, is a vice chairman and director of women's activities for the Democratic National Committee. His father, Hickman Price Jr., is an executive of International Products Corp. The parents live in Washington, D.C., but the father was reported to be in Asuncion, Paraguay, whence the missing youth returned a week ago.

Young Price was a student at Stanford University, and was to re-enter this fall as a junior, majoring in history.

OCCASIONAL DATES

Behr said his daughter, who also attends Stanford, had occasional dates with the youth, and had dinner with him last Thursday after his return from South America.

A friend, Arden Jones of Atherton, reported he had checked Price's apartment three times since Saturday and found no one there, Roberts said.

Last Saturday, said the highway patrol officer, young Robers consulted a Palo Alto doctor regarding minor surgery scheduled for today at Palo Alto Hospital.

I-J TWICE TOMORROW? NO, JUST BIG

Some Independent-Journal subscribers may receive the I-J twice tomorrow.

It won't be a case of duplicate deliveries, however.

Tomorrow's I-J will include 52 pages of special National Homes Week sections. The bundle will be so big that newspaperboys are being given the option of delivering it in two parts.

So if you receive what seems to be half a paper tomorrow, don't get alarmed. The second half will be along later.

In all, there will be six sections of Friday's I-J.

Morse Tells Of Wallace's Neurosis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) told the Senate today that Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama is receiving disability payments for a psychoneurosis condition as a result of World War II service.

The Oregon senator, who has been exchanging insults publicly with the Alabama governor, quoted what he said was a Veterans Administration report to show that Wallace applied for and received disability payments based on anxiety and similar traits.

"We have a mutuality of disrespect," Morse told the Senate. He said "Khrushchev does not have a more effective ally in the United States than the governor of Alabama."

Wallace, Morse continued, disregarded human and individual rights in the same manner as Communists.

Morse then noted that Wallace "has raised some questions as to the psychiatric soundness of the senator from Oregon" — Morse.

The senator then read what he said were official records of military service by Wallace, who was an Air Force flight engineer from 1942 to 1945.

After reading the military and disability record of the governor, Morse said, "Since he had not been examined since November 1956, it would seem to be appropriate for him to volunteer to be examined at this time."

DANGEROUS MISSILE — Mexican cherry bomb is magnified by reading glass as it is inspected by Sheriff's Inspector Marco Melovich. This is one of a half-gross of such bombs which, said Melovich, an 18-year-old youth bought in Mexico and one of which was thrown into a car at Kentfield Monday night, injuring three girls. Although little, they are powerful. (Independent-Journal photo)

CORE Demands School Balance

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK

The Marin chapter of the Congress on Racial Equality butted heads with the Sausalito School District Board again last night on the question of racial balance in the elementary schools of Sausalito and Marin City.

Half of the meeting was spent trying to define the word "segregation," but near the end of the session, some meeting of the minds on specific issues and action was hammered out.

Board members made it clear the district has an "open enrollment" policy, so that parents who wish to transfer their children from one school in the district to another may do so.

President George Kowski said no one had ever petitioned for such a change. He said transfers would be allowed whenever there was room in other schools. But the question of transportation of these children was left up in the air.

Board member Stanley J. Wolfe warned CORE members that the school transfer solution might be a "booby trap."

"It represents a token solution," he said. "What happens to those whose parents are not sufficiently aggressive to push for transfers."

"The question of transfers was brought to us by parents in Marin City," answered Douglas Quiett, head of the

Negro Teacher Lists Problems

By PHIL FRADKIN

A Negro school teacher in the San Jose School District today listed examples of racial discrimination which he wants eliminated.

John Gardenhire, speaking on radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" program, also said that such civil rights groups as the Marin Committee for Fair Play, social action groups in churches and the Marin County Food for Freedom movement "should change from talking societies into action groups."

"I want the white liberals to do less talking and more action," he said.

Gardenhire, who is a member of the Congress of Racial Equality, said he was speaking as an individual.

Referring to Birmingham, Gardenhire asked, "When does the open season on Negroes begin and end? It seems they can be shot anytime."

Gardenhire charged a Negro looking for a home to rent or buy never knows what reception he will get. In many cases, he said, the rent immediately "goes up 100 per cent."

He charged he has been refused service in a San Rafael restaurant, and on entering a barber shop for a haircut was refused by a barber who said "that kinky stuff makes me nervous."

He charged that Negroes pay the same membership fees as whites to the American Automobile Assn. but get only

Two Youths To Be Prosecuted In Bomb Case

Two teen-age boys will be prosecuted for tossing a lighted Mexican cherry bomb into a parked car at a Kentfield drive-in Monday night, injuring three girls.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety today issued criminal complaints against 17-year-old James W. Mistron of 143 King Street, Larkspur, who threw the bomb, and his 18-year-old companion, Peter Smiley, of 4 Ames Avenue, Ross.

The youths sped away from the explosion in Smiley's 1932 Model B Ford, which the victims described as an "Al Capone type car, like in 'The Untouchables.'"

Sheriff's Inspectors Bowen Bridges and Marco Melovich, who broke the case, said another 18-year-old had bought the cherry bombs in Mexico for $4 for a half gross (72).

"Each bomb is powerful enough to blow the ends off a 50-gallon metal drum," the inspectors warned. "It's lucky the girls did not lose their eyesight or suffer more serious injuries."

Linda Carlson, 16, of San Anselmo suffered a fractured eardrum. Lorna Kathleen Erickson, 17, of San Anselmo is still hard of hearing. Lynn Claire Hefferman, 16, of Fairfax, apparently escaped unharmed.

All three girls were sitting in a 1960 convertible outside the Eat 'N' Run Restaurant on College Avenue in Kentfield when the bomb ricocheted off the trunk, came through the open rear window and into the lap of one of the girls. Pieces of red plastic injured the girls and tore holes in the car seat and upholstery.

Investigators quoted the 17-year-old as saying, "I didn't mean to throw it inside the car; I wanted to throw it near or under the car to scare them."

"We don't know exactly what's inside these Mexican cherry bombs, but we do know they are powerful," said Inspector Bridges. "Parents

U.S. Curbs Travel In S. Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department announced today that curbs have been put on official U.S. travel to South Viet Nam because of the unsettled situation there. It suggested that American tourists hold off on their visits too.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the immediate effect of the official travel limitation is to hold up departure of 50 dependents of military personnel who had been slated to go to the troubled Southeast Asian country.

Other trips by U.S. civilian and military officials are being restricted to essential business and considered on a case-by-case basis, he said.

The State Department spokesman said the curb is not a restriction on U.S. military movements and does not signify a U.S. intent to cut back its massive aid to South Viet Nam in its war against Communist guerrillas.

OAS Ambassador Morrison Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy accepted today the resignation of Ambassador de-Lesseps S. Morrison, former mayor of New Orleans, who will seek the Democratic nomination for governor of Louisiana.

Morrison has been ambassador to the Organization of American States since July 1961. His resignation is effective Sept. 15.

Rain Changes Weather Scene

Traces of rain were recorded in most of Marin County early today as the fog moved in to force a dramatic change from the recent hot weather.

A small amount of rain fell in Tiburon at 8 a.m. and traces were also reported in Novato, Santa Venetia and Marinwood.

The temperature, from a high of 93 in San Rafael Tuesday, dropped to a high of 75 yesterday. Temperatures elsewhere in the county reflected the change.

Record Storm Hits Southern California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sunshine dried Southern California today after a record storm which dropped more than an inch of rain on some sections.

Heaviest rainfall was recorded in Northridge at San Fernando Valley State College—2.20 inches.

Taxpayers Told To Demand Curb On U.S. Spending

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The same strict accountability which the Internal Revenue Service requires of taxpayers should be demanded by tax spenders, President Edwin P. Neilan of the United States Chamber of Commerce declared today.

"We all know that tax cheaters go to jail," Neilan said in an address prepared for a luncheon meeting of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

"Free spending politicians get re-elected.

"So where's the catch?

"Is it any less moral for the citizen to cheat on his tax return than for the bureaucrat to throw tax money away?" Neilan challenged.

"It is time we opened our eyes to the corrupting immorality of vote buying.

"When we tolerate a pickpocket philosophy in government, we impair the value of the dollar, we rob the aged of their pensions, we defraud ourselves."

Ring Worth $2,800 Disappears In Yard

A woman's diamond ring worth $2,800 disappeared in the back yard of a San Rafael home, the owner reported to the sheriff Tuesday.

Louis Bershod of San Francisco, a real estate salesman, said he had lost the ring on Aug. 17 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin E. Diamond, 24 Drakes Cove, San Rafael.

SCHOOLS CLOSED; ONE DIES IN RIOT

Education Board Yields To Gov. Wallace, But Shutdown Is Termed Only Temporary

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Three Birmingham white schools scheduled to admit Negroes were closed today under the prodding of Gov. George C. Wallace following a midnight riot which claimed one life. (See photo, page 2.)

The four-member city school board voted unanimously to go along with Wallace but a spokesman said the closings would be only temporary.

"If the board has its way and if the situation does not worsen the schools will be open again Monday morning," board president Robert C. Arthur announced.

Wallace plunged into a round of strategy talks aimed at keeping his pledge to resist racial integration at every level in Alabama. He was reported considering coming to Birmingham for a closer assessment of the situation and possibly hold a news conference.

Birmingham police and state troopers surrounded the three schools—one of which registered two Negroes yesterday—this morning and turned away a handful of students who showed up.

It marked the first time that the troopers Wallace sent into the city Tuesday had put in an appearance at the schools. About 50 joined the city police at each of the locations—two high schools and Graymont elementary schools.

The two-hour riot late last night left 19 persons, including three policemen, injured. About 1,000 Negroes poured into the streets following the bombing of Negro attorney Arthur Shores' home for the

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Young Slayer Gets Lease On Life

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A youth who pleaded guilty to murdering a Riverside couple in 1960 has a new lease on life in his Death Row cell at San Quentin.

The Sept. 11 execution date for David J. Seiterle was canceled by the State Supreme Court yesterday, and a hearing ordered into his contention that he was coerced into pleading guilty.

The court will require the state to show cause at its Oct. 28 session in Los Angeles why Seiterle, 22, shouldn't be granted a petition to be freed on a writ of habeas corpus.

Senate Passes Re-Training Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has passed a bill under which the federal government for the third year would pick up the whole tab for teaching skills to unemployed workers under the Manpower Training Act.

It's the first piece of legislation suggested by President John F. Kennedy in his civil rights message to be acted on by Congress. But it involves jobs, and not strictly racial issues.

Johnson Talks With Sweden Premier

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson spent 75 minutes in talks with Premier Tage Erlander today and then told newsmen: "It was an excellent meeting."

The two statesmen, who clearly have developed personal bonds of friendship, ranged over the international scene in a private session.

Johnson told a news conference in his hotel suite: "We had a useful and instructive meeting between friendly representatives of friendly governments. It was not a negotiating meeting, but we spoke frankly about the world's economic and political problems."

Attempt Made Of Pakistan Friendship

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — Undersecretary of State George Ball made a final attempt today to persuade President Mohammed Ayub Khan to stay firmly on the West's side in the cold war and shy away from Red China.

U.S. sources said Ball had again assured Ayub that the United States would protect Pakistan against aggression from any quarter. But they reported he has failed to quiet Pakistan's fear of Indian attack or allay resentment over U.S. military aid to India, Pakistan's neighbor and old enemy.

This has been the main topic in the talks Ball has conducted for the past three days.

Yugo-Russ Trade

BELGRADE (AP)—The Yugoslav press says the first proof of a desire by Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union to increase economic relations will be shown by a 50 per cent jump in trade by Jan. 1.

The reports by Politika, largest Yugoslav paper, and Borba, the Communist party newspaper, followed a visit to Yugoslavia by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Politika said "obstacles for a successful economic cooperation have been removed."

'Perry Mason' Loses

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Raymond Burr, who portrays the unbeatable criminal lawyer Perry Mason on television, lost a case in Phoenix involving a judgment of $1,085.

The judgment was to George J. Shaheen of Phoenix, who claimed Burr had owed him the money since 1940. Burr filed an answer to the suit instead of hiring an attorney. Judge Charles C. Stidham ruled the actor did not follow proper procedures and did not appear for a court-ordered deposition last June.

Senator Recuperating

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.) is recuperating at Bethesda Naval Hospital from a kidney infection, it was reported.

McNamara's office said the senator went to the hospital with a "slight fever," was resting comfortably and expected to remain in the hospital for several days.

Meeting On Congo

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Members of Secretary-General Thant's 19-nation Congo advisory committee have decided to meet again Tuesday after consultations with their governments on whether U.N. troops should be kept in the Congo beyond the end of the year.

Sources said Thant asked for their advice at a private meeting yesterday.

Barry To Take 15th Floor At Mark Hopkins

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Presidential Suite at the plush Mark Hopkins Hotel isn't big enough for the entourage of Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater during next July's Republican National Convention.

So, it was learned yesterday, Goldwater has reserved the entire 15th floor. And, he'll have company—the other Gop presidential hopefuls.

RESERVED ROOMS

John Parsons, executive vice president of the hotel, said that "all who might be considered candidates" have reserved rooms at the hotel, which is across the street from the Fairmont, headquarters hotel for the convention.

In New York, however, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's office said he had not made reservations at the hotel.

Parsons said he couldn't name the other prospective candidates who have reserved space "because their offices have asked me not to, but Goldwater's office didn't make such a restriction."

LEADER IN FIGHT

Goldwater, the conservative currently considered to be the leader in the fight for the presidential nomination, "first reserved the Presidential Suite, but that did not have sufficient rooms," Parsons reported.

That has 11 rooms, whereas the 15th floor has 51 rooms that can handle 76 guests.

The senator reserved more rooms than anyone else, Parsons said. He added that Goldwater's advance contingent is scheduled to arrive a week in advance of the mid-July gathering, with the senator coming in four days before the convention opens.

WHITTIER (AP)—Mrs. Hannah Nixon, 78, mother of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, is in a Whittier hospital for a checkup.

Mrs. Don Nixon, her daughter-in-law, said Mrs. Nixon was "just not feeling up to par and seemed quite tired."

DIEM KIN CHARGES DOUBLE DEALING

Mme. Nhu Suggests JFK Withdraw Some Personnel, Thinks They're Agents

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu's charges of double dealing by the United States indicated today that the South Vietnamese government has no intention of backing down under any pressure from Washington in the present crisis.

Mme. Nhu, the powerful and beautiful sister-in-law of President Ngo Dinh Diem, said yesterday that President John F. Kennedy apparently has the wrong conception of the Diem regime's parallel struggles with the Buddhists and the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

She suggested at a news conference the United States withdraw some of its civilian aid personnel because she has the "impression" some of them are U.S. intelligence agents.

Referring to American aid to South Viet Nam and press charges that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency was involved in a plot against the Diem government, Mme. Nhu said:

"I have the impression that with one hand America pats and with the other it strikes."

She said it appeared to be a "double policy" which she could not understand.

Mme. Nhu's husband is Diem's brother and chief political adviser. He is head of the secret police, and is believed by many diplomatic observers to have engineered the nationwide crackdown on Buddhist opposition which included raids on pagodas and massive arrests.

The raids brought the Diem government into open dispute with the U.S. government, which expressed strong disapproval of the strongarm methods used against the Buddhists.

The charges leveled by Mme. Nhu came at a time when U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge is involved in diplomatic maneuvers to clarify Washington's position regarding both the crackdown on Buddhists and the struggle against the Viet Cong.

The United States, which considers the safety of South Viet Nam vital to the security of all of non-communist Southeast Asia, is spending more than 1 million dollars a day and has committed 13,000 men to help wipe out the Communist guerrillas.

Lodge conferred with French Ambassador Roger Lallouette yesterday at the latter's request. Informed sources said the two diplomats exchanged views on renewed French interest in Viet Nam indicated by President Charles de Gaulle's recent statement in Paris.

De Gaulle last week offered "cordial cooperation" to the Vietnamese to help solve their problems free of "foreign influences." His offer was interpreted by many diplomatic observers here as an attempt to regain a place in a region that once was part of the French empire.

U.S. Can Achieve Open Skies Policy, Scientist Asserts

STANFORD (AP)—The United States, acting alone, can achieve the objectives of the open skies policy proposed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to the Soviet Union at the Geneva Conference in 1955, says a research scientist.

Space observation covers both military and peaceful uses, Carl H. Amme Jr. of Stanford research Institute said today at an "Open Space and Peace Symposium" at Stanford University.

Peaceful commercial and scientific uses of observation satellites can't be dientangled from the related military uses, Amme told the forum sponsored by Stanford's Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace, and by Sylvania Electric Products Inc.

"We can obtain our information openly by satellites and we can use it openly by giving it to the world," Amme declared. "Unilaterally, we will be able to achieve the objective of 'open skies' in one major stroke."

Some 200 education, industry and government leaders are attending the three-day symposium on the political and sociological implications of satellite observation of the earth.

Rep. George P. Miller (D-Calif.) told the symposium Wednesday that space travel and satellite launchings are the best investment Americans have ever made in themselves.

Miller, chairman of the House Committee on Science and Astronautics, said a major problem is convincing Americans and non-Americans that space progress can benefit everyone.

He said farmers know the value of weather satellites but businessmen must be taught that improved communications can mean bigger profits.

"Relatively few people will ever make a telephone call to Europe or to Nigeria by Telstar or relay," said Miller, "yet the public must be convinced that quick and uninterrupted communications are vital elements of national security and international understanding."

Plane Crash Wiped Out Generation

DUERRENAESCH, Switzerland (AP) — Switzerland today mourned for victims of its worst airline disaster, a crash that killed 80 persons, including almost a complete generation of the farming village of Humlikon.

"This is worse than a war," said a farmer in Humlikon after being informed that his parents were among the 43 passengers from his village killed when a Swissair twin-jet Caravelle from Zurich exploded and crashed in fog yesterday. All 74 passengers and six crewmen were killed.

Humlikon lost about one-fifth of its 217 population. The community also lost its mayor and all councilmen.

With the other villagers, they were heading to Geneva to visit an agricultural experiment station.

For many of the villagers, it was their first flight. There were 19 married couples among them. They left 40 orphans.

Despair and disbelief hung over Humlikon. No children played. Red-eyed adults conversed in whispers.

Said Gottfried Meisterhans, 28, whose parents perished in the disaster:

"This is terrible. This is worse than war because it wiped out virtually a whole generation."

All 4 Found Guilty In 'Warrant War'

UKIAH (AP) — Mendocino County's "warrant war" trial has come to an end after 13 weeks with two judges, a former deputy sheriff and a red-haired divorcee facing possible prison terms and stiff fines.

The longest trial in the Northern California county's history ended last night when a jury, after five hours of deliberation, found all four guilty. Each had been charged with two counts of obstructing justice and conspiring to commit malicious prosecution.

They face a maximum of three years in state prison and a $5,000 fine. Sentencing was set for Sept. 25. Court aides said the verdict meant immediate removal from office of the judges.

Convicted were judges Maurice W. Tindall, 70, of Anderson Valley Judicial District and Glenn W. Evans, 56, of Round Valley Judicial District; Robert Morton, 38, the former deputy, and the divorcee, Shonlee Salisbury, 27.

Bail on the three men was set at $2,000, and at $10,000 for her. They said they would seek a new trial.

After the verdict was handed down in a courtroom well staffed with deputy sheriffs to forestall any demonstration aroused by the emotion-packed case, Sheriff Reno Bartolomie approached the four and defense lawyer John Fitzgerald. They were separated before blows were struck.

The two judges had issued 56 warrants against Bartolomie, Sheriff's Capt. Gino Stefani and former Dist. Atty. Frank Petersen, now a state senator. Most were at Morton's request.

Morton and the two judges —political foes of Bartolomie and Petersen—accused them of failing to prosecute a woman concerning missing bail funds, juveniles arrested by Morton, and Mrs. Salisbury's then-husband, Darrell, accused of beating her.

The resulting flood of warrants brought the state into the case, and the judges even passed down warrants against Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk and an assistant. Mosk's aides sped around the county making legal maneuvers to keep Stefani, Petersen and Bartolomie out of jail.

Mosk named San Anselmo attorney Alvin Goldstein as special prosecutor in the case. Alameda County Superior Court Judge Folger Emerson was assigned to hear it.

School Meeting Off

The meeting of the Point Reyes School District board, which had been set for last night, was postponed for lack of business. Clerk J. H. Mendoza said a meeting will be called next week, but that no date has been set.

Youth, 17, Must Stand Trial As Adult For School Fire

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Superior Court Judge Murle C. Schreck has ruled that a 17-year-old boy accused of setting fire to Sacramento's Stanford Junior High School must stand trial as an adult.

The judge made the ruling yesterday in the case of Robert Reese, whom he said "is not a fit and proper person to be dealt with under the provisions of the juvenile court law."

A decision is pending in the case of William Crawford, 16, who also has been accused in the school's destruction.

The burned school, empty at the time of the summer fire, was built in the 1930s for $330,000. Its replacement cost has been estimated at two million dollars.

Vandals Hit Houses Under Construction

Vandalism to houses under construction in Raphael Village was reported yesterday to air police at Hamilton Air Force Base by Charles D. Kuhn, contractor of 500 Country Club Drive, Novato.

Some windows were broken, sheet rock smashed, and a garage door smashed, Kuhn reported.

She lived her best-loved children's story

Kate Douglas Wiggin is perhaps best known for her "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" and other children's classics. But even before her literary career, "Miss Kate" wrote a splendid chapter into Bay Area history: she founded the first free kindergarten in the West. Her school was located—not in a prosperous or even middle-class neighborhood—but in a shabby San Francisco slum. Miss Kate's tidy little school and her gentle, understanding manner as she taught, gave the first encouraging glimpse to many youngsters, of the brighter world that books and blackboards offered.

Needless to say, the new kindergarten flourished.

Besides its splendid human values, Kate Wiggin's school was a giant step in education in those days... and one of the fine traditions emerging in the 1880's that the Bay Area still benefits from today. We are proud that Citizens Federal Savings is another. For five generations Citizens has offered good returns and dependable, person-to-person service to savers of the Bay Area. If these qualities measure up to your savings requirements, why not call at your nearest Citizens office today.

Girl Injured In Three-Car Crash; Traffic Slowed

One person was bruised and heavy southbound traffic was slowed several minutes in a three-car rear end crash on Highway 101 about 300 yards south of the Marin City southbound connector road at 8:15 a.m. yesterday.

A car driven by Jessie Evelyn Robinette, 46, meat-wrapper of 18 Austin Avenue, San Anselmo, hit the rear of one driven by Patricia Louise Baum, 20, University of California student of 6 Community Road, Belvedere, which in turn hit one driven by Douglas D. Pack, 25, of 317 Montecito Drive, Corte Madera, reported California Highway Patrolman I. D. Jump.

Judy C. Pack, 22, riding in the third car, was to see her doctor.

'Actress' Pulled From Atlantic

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — A woman who walked away from a private mental hospital in Baltimore was saved from the Atlantic surf last night by the mayor of this resort town.

Maureen Leeds, 37, of Beverly Hills, Calif., was pulled from the heavy surf by Mayor Hugh J. Cropper, 40, after she apparently jumped from a 50-foot high fishing pier.

Dr. William W. Elgin, assistant administrator of the hospital where she was a patient, said today he understood she was an actress.

'Angry Young Man' Will Be Sentenced

An angry young man from Tamalpais Valley, who strode out of court in a huff yesterday when he should have gone to jail, was scheduled to be sentenced today for a series of offenses.

Dennis William Crain, 20, of 859 Marin Drive, drew two years probation last December for malicious mischief (jumping on top of a car). Last June, he drew a suspended 60-day jail sentence for shooting at girls with a pellet gun.

On Tuesday, Judge Joseph G. Wilson found him guilty of hit-run driving. Yesterday Judge Leonard A. Thomas found him guilty of reckless driving and disturbing the peace. Judge Thomas revoked Crain's probation and ordered him into the custody of the sheriff.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Charles L. Convis said Crain walked out of court, and instead of turning himself in to the sheriff, drove off, heading north on Highway 101. Highway Patrolman Richard Topham chased Crain at speeds up to 100 miles per hour. Crain then doubled back into San Rafael, and surrendered himself at the jail.

"I took a ride to cool off," said the angry youth.

Negro John D. Coley, 20, was fatally wounded by a bullet in his neck. It was not determined who fired the shot. Three other Negroes received gunshot wounds.

Wallace called the violence "tragic" and began early morning negotiations with the school officials to close the three schools.

"The board has acceded to my request and the schools will be closed temporarily," the governor said in a statement.

He said later he had no trouble in persuading the board members to close the schools.

Arthur told reporters he did not want to be "pinned down" on when the three schools will open but said that "safety factors" would determine this.

The board also announced that a hearing will be set within 30 days at the request of a group of parents who petitioned for the closing of all public schools.

Officers confiscated a dozen of the cherry bombs from the boys and will send them to the state crime laboratory in Sacramento for examination.

The boys will be charged with Penal Code Section 375, which makes it a misdemeanor to throw and discharge any substance injurious to persons or property.

Garety said he feels both boys should be prosecuted together in the same court, either in juvenile or in municipal court.

Prominent City Medic Jailed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A prominent Negro physician was arrested yesterday on a charge of performing an abortion.

Dr. Herbert B. Henderson, 52, who served on San Francisco's Urban Development Agency from 1948 to 1950, denied the charge. He said he treated the woman, a 22-year-old secretary, for six weeks for a threatened miscarriage.

He was released on bail.

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed higher today, topping the previous all-time peak in the Dow Jones industrial average. Trading was heavy.

3 Former Vehicles Officials Charged With Dishonesty

Formal Complaint Is Filed In Probe Of State Agency

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Three former Department of Motor Vehicles officials have been accused of incompetency, inefficiency, inexcusable neglect of duty and dishonesty — the result of a probe of alleged corruption in the state agency.

The accusations, in formal charges filed with the State Personnel Board late yesterday, were against A. J. Veglia, William P. Scanland and James E. Edling.

The charges, made by Motor Vehicles Director Tom Bright, told a story of Veglia and Scanland sheltering and promoting one of their underlings, investigator Morris Genser, even though they had been given reports of his suspected shakedowns of auto dealers.

Bright charged that Scanland, former chief investigator for the department, obtained three autos and three station wagons through Genser.

Genser, Bright said, once gave Scanland's 5-year-old daughter $1,150 in savings and loan stock.

As for Veglia, Bright accused him of not taking action on a report from a Los Angeles County sheriff's officer that told of Genser associating with men having "a long record with numerous convictions, all the way from murder, kidnapping, robbery to bookmaking."

The charges before the personnel board stem from Los Angeles County Grand Jury hearings in which auto dealers testified they paid from $58 to $6,000 for licensing and other favors.

The witnesses said the money was paid to Genser, in charge of department investigations in Southern California; Edling, who worked under him and David Koffman, head of the California Dealers Service Agency.

All three were indicted on 24 counts alleging bribery, grand theft, extortion, conspiracy and perjury.

Bright, acting on the recommendation of Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk, fired Veglia, Scanland and Edling. Genser, and his northern California counterpart, Lester Hingsbergen, had been fired earlier.

Hingsbergen's name was mentioned in the charges against Veglia and Scanland.

Uniform Dog Ordinance Introduced

Larkspur City Council last night voted to introduce a uniform dog ordinance that is being proposed for all communities in the county.

Larkspur now has a leash law, but it is difficult to enforce. The uniform dog ordinance, if adopted by the county and all cities, would make enforcement much easier, City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper reported.

Councilman Vaughn Marker questioned the severity of penalty for violators of the uniform dog ordinance. "Isn't six months in prison a bit steep?" he wondered.

City Atty. Samuel W. Gardiner assured him that was the standard maximum sentence for misdemeanors, and judges normally do not impose the maximum.

Marker also suggested that in case of dog bites, the burden of reporting such incidents should be on the victim as well as on the dog owner.

Councilmen decided they would introduce the ordinance, then iron out the details later.

LARKSPUR PLAZA WORK ACCEPTED

New Market At $390,000 Project To Be Ready For Business Before End Of Year

Larkspur City Council last night officially accepted the fill and street improvements on the Larkspur Plaza as completed.

The $390,000 project is located off Magnolia Avenue on Doherty Drive. Value World, to be operated by Lee Brothers Markets, is under construction there and should be ready for business before the end of this year, City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper reported.

The Larkspur City Council last night also:

1. Asked City Engineer B. J. Whitlow to study the feasibility of improving Sunrise Lane. Several property owners want an assessment district formed so that the street can be brought up to city standards.

2. Asked the engineer to investigate the possibility of putting in sidewalks along Magnolia Avenue from Dartmouth Drive to Bon Air Road. Residents of Hillview Gardens are asking for the sidewalk for school children.

3. Decided to let Schultz Co. dredge a slough 25 feet into city property near Redwood High School. In exchange, Schultz will give the city about 10,000 cubic yards of mud from the dredging operation to use as fill on Doherty Drive.

4. Hired Dobie Jenkins, planning intern from University of California, to do part time work on the city's general plan at $3 per hour.

5. Decided that Blue Rock Hotel will be the scene of the next Marin Council of Mayors meeting, set for Sept. 25. Larkspur will be the host city.

6. Accepted a report from Councilmen Robert Smith and James Lienkaemper, who suggested rules and regulations on how to set up agenda items in the future. They urged that streets and sidewalks should get priority attention for the next "work session" of the city council. Mayor Lesly A. Daveler appointed Councilman Vaughn Marker and City Manager Piper to work with him in setting up the agenda for the next meeting.

WHITE BOY IN NEGRO SCHOOL

Steven Fitts, 6 (right foreground) became the only white pupil in all-Negro McAlmont School near Little Rock, Ark., yesterday. His mother, Mrs. Yvonne Fitts, 26, said she entered her son because the school was near her home and because she believes in integration. She said she has received some telephone threats, but added she was sure the boy is safe at school. (AP Wirephoto)

Two giants of the automotive industry—Henry Ford and Sir Henry Royce—were born 100 years ago this summer. Both the American and English auto makers were self-taught, made their most important achievements late in life, neither grew too important to take personal charge of production and cars bearing their names are important in the industry today.

Union Discussion Set On Printers' Strike

Strike action against the commercial printing industry in the San Francisco Typographical Union's jurisdictional area—which includes Marin—will be discussed at a special meeting of the union Sunday in San Francisco.

This was announced by Andrew Bahr, typographical union representative, at last night's meeting of the Marin County Labor Council.

Dissatisfaction with the performance of this year's legislature on matters of concern to labor unions was voiced by Stanley Lathen of Vallejo, newly elected vice president of the California Federation of Labor, in a speech to the council.

Bright pictures of the employment situation were painted in reports by council members. Paul Crumley of the Carpenters Union reported the demand for carpenters several times recently exceeded the work forc. Charles Giannini of the Laborers Union said unemployment periods for members of that union have lasted but a few days. James Isbell of the Machinist Union reported skilled machinists in short supply in Marin.

Originally called Scupi or Skupi, Skopje, Yugoslavia, was the capital of Dardania, a province of ancient Illyria. Conquered by Rome, it was the birthplace of the Emperor Justinian, who restored the city after the earthquake of 518.

Contractors To Get Licenses

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The constrators' state license board announced it plans to issue licenses to three San Rafael firms if no protest is received by Sept. 18.

Leonard E. Weisenburg Jr., Leonard E. Weisenburg and Carol S. Weisenburg, Weisenburg Construction, Inc., 194 Mill Street, will be issued licenses for general building and engineering work.

George P. Lino and George M. Osborn, Lino and Osborn Construction Co., 275 Center Street, will be issued a general building contractor's license.

James D. Mahoney, 5 Sierra Circle, will be issued a reinforcing steel contractor's license.

Lifetime Hunt For Moses' Tomb Planned

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Archeologist Julio Ripamonti said today he plans to spend the rest of his life digging in the wilderness around Devil's Ravine with hopes of finding Moses' tomb.

Ripamonti, professor at the Central University of Venezuela in Caracas, recently returned after a 50-day expedition to the ravine, at the foot of a hill named Roujoum Makhayyat about 20 miles south of Amman.

Ripamonti believes Roujoum Makhayyat, highest hill in the area, could be Mount Posgah from which the Bible says God showed Moses the Promised Land. Moses died before reaching the Promised Land and according to the Bible was buried in a valley.

Ripamonti believes Devil's Ravine may be the valley.

COPYRIGHT'S WRONGED, THEY SAY, PLAINTIVELY

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Our copyright's been wronged, the writers of the Tom Swifty books told the court, plaintively.

This was in federal court yesterday, when they filed suit against Rust Craft Greeting Cards, Inc., of Dedham, Mass. Don't use "swiftly," "Tom swiftly" or "said Tom" on your cards anymore, the three said, demandingly.

The trio—Paul Pease, Bill McDonough and John Larrecq—have marketed three books dealing with "Tom Swifties" under the business name of Macventures, Inc.

Then they glimpsed the "Tom Swiftly" greeting cards on the market and filed suit, while a court way observed:

"Two copywrongs do not make a copyright."

Schools Defy Court With Bible Reading

HAWTHORNE, N.J. (UPI) — Public schools in this northern New Jersey community today defied the U.S. Supreme Court with Bible reading exercises to open the new term.

Reciting the Proverb of Solomon from the Old Testament, Principal Chester E. Wilhelm spoke over a public address system to 1,060 students in Hawthorne High School classrooms.

The Bible passage he read began, "To know wisdom and instruction . . ."

After the reading, the students recited the salute to the flag. The procedure was repeated in the community's five public elementary schools which also opened today.

Pupils were given the choice of leaving the room during the reading but school board attorney Alexander Farsoli said that none did so.

School Supt. Steven W. Moshier said the Bible reading exercises will be continued for as long as the board of education directs the practice.

The school board ordered the recitations two days ago, in defiance of a U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing the practice.

Nine tenths of the men who marry do so between the ages of 18-29.

GIVEN BY MARILYN

Judge Won't Waste Time On Gift Fight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A divorced Hollywood couple, arguing over a wedding gift from the late actress Marilyn Monroe, settled the dispute after a Superior Court judge refused to hear the case in court.

Writer Steffi Grant, daughter of Hollywood columnist Sidney Skolsky, got the silver cigareete box, though at her divorce from Leonard J. Grant, 29, she took a vase, pitcher and bowl as her share of the wedding gifts.

Mrs. Grant, 27, later filed suit for the box, saying she wanted it and her former husband refused to give it up. She said she has a "sentimental attachment to it."

When the case came up yesterday, Superior Judge Burnett Wolfson balked. He said it would cost taxpayers more than $500 just for him to hear the case.

Judge Wolfson offered to attempt to work out a settlement in his chambers, and even volunteered to pay for having a duplicate box made.

He ruled that Mrs. Grant could have the cigarette box on condition she turned over the other gifts to her husband.

The box was given for the Grants' 1960 wedding by Miss Monroe and her husband, playwright Arthur Miller.

Bar Threat Nets Suspended Term

A Forest Knolls service station owner, who yelled threats at a bar owner Tuesday night, drew a 30-day suspended jail sentence.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court yesterday sentenced Harold E. MacKenzie, 32, for disturbing the peace. The judge put MacKenzie on one-year probation.

Arthur Dudley, 42, bar owner at Forest Knolls Lodge, complained to the sheriff that MacKenzie had threatened to shoot him and run him down with a tow truck.

Cohn Pleads Innocent In Stock Fraud Case

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roy M. Cohn, the boy wonder of the Army-McCarthy hearings of a decade ago, today pleaded innocent to a 10-count indictment that he lied and conspired to obstruct a Justice Department investigation of a multimillion dollar stock fraud case.

Cohn, who once served the Southern New York District as an assistant U.S. attorney, told Federal Judge Dudley B. Bonsal, "I plead not guilty to each of the charges."

U.S. Attorney Robert F. Morgenthau, whom Cohn charged yesterday with being part of a political vendetta against him, told the court he did not object to Cohn being released on his own cognizance.

Building Sold For $10 Million

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bethlehem Steel Co. has sold its new 15-story Pacific Coast division headquarters building to Insurance Securities, Inc. for 10 million dollars.

President Leland Kaiser of Insurance Securities, which manages the 1.1-million-dollar Insurance Securities Trust Fund, announced the purchase yesterday.

Bethlehem will continue to occupy four floors of the building plus a penthouse with its Pacific Division headquarters.

Ross Valley Sanitary Board Opens Treatment Plant Bids

Bids from four firms for a $30,000 job of rehabilitation of the treatment plant were opened last night by directors of the Ross Valley Sanitary District, but directors won't know until Friday which firm was low.

Manager Ralph C. Noah explained that specifications for the job were divided into eight parts, and that part of the bidding was based on the unit price of materials. Some bidders stated they would accept the job only if they got the entire project.

The four firms were C. Norman Peterson Co., Berkeley; Roen Construction Co., Danville; Sonoma Construction Co., Santa Rosa, and Fred J. Early Construction Co., San Francisco.

Basutoland's only industries are a small brick factory, mission printing presses and a few handicraft shops. Its one university is operated by Roman Catholic missionaries.

FAIR HORSE TRAINER SUSPENDED: 'DOPING'

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The California State Fair has suspended trainer C. J. Norris on suspicion of doping a horse.

The fair's board of stewards said yesterday that saliva tests by Truesdail Laboratories, Inc., indicated that Peg Leg Pete, winner of Saturday's seventh race had been given a drug.

The case was referred to the State Horse Racing Board and the $5,000 purse ordered redistributed. Further entries of horses owned or trained by Norris were forbidden.

Envoy 'Safe' After Attack On McNamara

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House indicated today there was no prospect of Adm. George Anderson being dropped as ambassador to Portugal because of the former Navy chief's stinging attack on the defense department's civilian authorities.

In a critical broadside, Anderson told the National Press Club yesterday that he saw "alarming perils" in attempts to obscure the role of the military under Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

After being replaced as chief of naval operations, Anderson was named to the ambassadorship by President John F. Kennedy.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger was asked today by a reporter if Anderson's speech might prompt Kennedy to withdraw the appointment.

Salinger quickly replied: "I haven't heard anything like that."

The White House and Defense Department declined reaction to Anderson's charges but the White House noted that a copy of the speech had been delivered to Kennedy's desk after the retired admiral began talking yesterday.

The attack brought into the open resentment of many of the nation's professional military men over McNamara's "new era" at the Pentagon.

Handicapped Classes In Sausalito Tuesday

Special classes for mentally and physically handicapped children in Marin will open next Tuesday, with exception of classes in the Sausalito district, which opened this week along with regular Sausalito schools.

The special classes are held at Marindale School as well as at some schools in other districts. Monday's Independent-Journal, incorrectly reported the classes would start next Monday.

Some Novato Students May Have To Stand

Some students of Novato Unified School District probably will be required to stand in the school buses because two of the buses are short two seats.

Gordon Robert Smith of 1324 Cambridge Street, director of transportation for the district, yesterday reported disappearance of the two seats to Novato police.

Smith said he took 14 seats with torn upholstery to the A and D Upholstery at 844 Sweetser Avenue, owned by Arthur B. Self, to be repaired at the end of the school year last spring. Payment was made for the seats about Aug. 1 after 12 of them had been delivered.

Smith went for the other two seats Tuesday. He found the upholstery shop closed and deserted.

Lucas Valley Is Seeking Police, Fire Protection

Homeowners in the new Lucas Valley Eichler subdivision are continuing their study of local fire and community service needs, with the possibility of forming a new district, Bruce Flanagan, president of the homeowners' association, said today.

The group met last night and agreed to investigate county services as compared to possible services which a community services district might provide, or annexation to the Marinwood Community Services District.

Another meeting to hear reports from association members was scheduled Sept. 18 at 8 p.m. in the Lucas Valley Community Center.

Two new officers appointed last night were Mrs. Edris Cole, 22 Mount Whitney Drive, secretary; and Ron Marinoff, 66 Mount Ranier Drive, treasurer.

Peace Corps Allots Funds For Training

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps allotted $121,789 today to the University of California at Davis for the training of Peace Corps volunteers who will go to India to work in a poultry project.

The volunteers will be at Davis from Sept. 27 to Dec. 20.

Doctors' Lounge To Honor Goddard

The new doctors' lounge at Marin General Hospital will be named in honor of Dr. Wilson P. Goddard, first chief of staff at the hospital and former chairman of the hospital board.

Dr. Goddard was given a standing ovation by more than 150 doctors when the announcement was made at a quarterly meeting of the hospital medical staff Tuesday night.

The doctors also agreed to commission artist Erwin Manheim of Bolinas to paint a portrait of Dr. Goddard which will be placed in the lounge.

Five-Unit Apartment Plan Is Approved In Sausalito

Sausalito planning commission last night approved plans by Charles J. Hendrickson of San Rafael to build a five-unit apartment building on the north side of Second Street at its intersection with Second Street and Sausalito Boulevard.

Robert L. Nissen, commission vice chairman, said the building now conforms to the requirement of 1,500 square feet of property per unit.

Hendrickson, a member of the San Rafael planning commission, had previously submitted plans which didn't conform with the footage requirements, Nissen said.

The commission set a hearing at 8 p.m. Oct. 2 in the council chambers on a final zoning map and final draft of a proposed zoning ordinance for Sausalito. Nissen said William Spangle Associates of Redwood City, planning consultants, had just completed the final draft. A limited number of copies are on sale at the city hall, and several copies are available at the city library, Nissen said.

Muir Beach Votes Down Water Plan

Directors of the Muir Beach Community Services District last night voted 3-2 against a proposal by Miwok Corp. to supply water to a 64-home subdivision the corporation is developing at Muir Beach.

"Those opposed were against it chiefly because the company asked for kickbacks from connection fees to help finance the system," said Jack S. Harris, president, who with directors Tony Leal and Albert Vidart voted against the proposal.

The corporation proposed it receive half of the $400 connection fee charged to new users.

"Those opposed also objected because the company asked us to use our emminent domain rights to secure land for them," said Harris.

"It's my feeling we will best solve our problems by obtaining water from the Marin Municipal Water District," he said.

Miwok Co. had proposed developing a water source, possibly a new well, and treatment plant and then deeding the system to the district.

Muir Beach recently successfully applied to the Marin Municipal Water District for service, but the MMWD water will not be available before 1965. The community suffers from a chronic water problem because its well and pipelines are susceptible to contamination.

Chain Crash Injures Three On Highway

Three persons were injured in a chain reaction crash of three northbound cars on Highway 101 about 1,000 feet south of the Lincoln Avenue undercrossing in San Rafael at 11:30 a.m. yesterday.

One driver said he "bounced like a rubber ball" when his car was hit.

A car driven by Charles Henry Chevalley, 80, Aptos farmer, hit the rear of one driven by Charles F. H. Erickson, 50, Orinda salesman, reported California Highway Patrolman P. W. Cunningham.

The Erickson car in turn hit the rear of a car driven by Josephine Ann Attwood, 35, of 811 Estancia Way, Santa Venetia.

Erickson said he "bounced around like a rubber ball," when his car was hit from the rear.

Mrs. Attwood complained of whiplash pains.

WITNESSES TOLD WORLD END NEAR

Member Of Society Turns Down Blood Transfusion After Injury And Dies

PASADENA (UPI) — Convening Jehovah's Witnesses from throughout the world were told yesterday that "the world is in its final hour" and faces "the greatest and most destructive war in all human history."

N. H. Knorr, president of the Watchtower, Bible and Tract Society, keynote speaker of the eight-day international assembly, spoke to an audience of 47,000 gathered in the famed Rose Bowl despite cold, damp weather.

"The march of all the worldly nations to the greatest and most destructive war in all human history is unquestionably being conducted under demon control," he declared.

In Los Angeles, a Jehovah's Witness, following his interpretation of his faith, turned down a blood transfusion yesterday before dying from injuries suffered when he was run down by a former mental patient.

Harold Mather, 38, of Roseburg, Ore., was taken to the hospital late Tuesday night after police said he was intentionally struck by a car in a downtown street. He died early yesterday.

One Jehovah's Witness official explained later that Mathers' position was "in harmony with the law of God" in regard to the use of blood—outside of that which a person possesses within his own body."

Captain Mike Nyquist led Dartmouth's 1963 baseball team in runs batted in for the third straight year. He drove home 20 runs last spring.

Site Honoring Muir Gains Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of the Interior today backed legislation which would designate nine acres in Contra Costa County, as a national historic site honoring John Muir, the famed naturalist.

The acreage, on the western edge of Martinez, includes a Victorian-style house, an early California Mexican style ranch house and trees and shrubs planted by Muir.

Legislation now is pending to designate the area a national monument. A spokesman for the Department of the Interior says it favors amending this to make the site a national historic site.

If this is done, the Muir home would be the first unit in the National Park System commemorating a private citizen in either literature or conservation.

70 Teachers Are Expected At Institute

More than 70 teachers, mostly from rural school districts, are expected to attend the all-day Marin County teachers' institute tomorrow at the Civic Center.

The institute will begin at 9 a.m. in the board of supervisors chambers with introductions by Supt. Virgil S. Hollis. Special guests will include William D. Fusselman, chairman of the board of supervisors, and Elizabeth M. Deedy, president of the Marin County School Trustees Assn.

Two workshop sessions will be held from 10:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. One, on the teaching of the new mathematics, will be conducted by Dr. Richard Madden of Sonoma State College. The other, on new geography textbooks and teaching materials, will be conducted by Fred Hubbell, representative of Denoyer-Geppert Co. of Chicago.

Edwin L. Blackmore, coordinator of rural education, said teachers from Bolinas-Stinson, Laguna Joint, Lagunitas, Lincoln, Nicasio, Point Reyes, Ross, Tomales Bay Union, Union Joint and West Marin districts will attend the institute. They will be joined for the opening session by teachers from the Larkspur School District.

Bible Publisher Dies

CLEVELAND (AP)—Alfred H. Cahen, 83, founder and former president of the World Publishing Co., the nation's largest publisher of Bibles for many years, died yesterday. The company, also a leading publisher of dictionaries, was sold last month to the Times-Mirror Co. of Los Angeles for 13.5 million dollars.

MOVING TARGET MIGHT HELP

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — An angry woman called the Montgomery County sheriff's department to complain about golf balls from a nearby golf driving range hitting her trailer home.

Later, she showed deputies the dents in her trailer, and then produced more evidence: 940 golf balls she'd picked up around the trailer since the range opened last spring.

Captain Says Bomb Mailed Unknowingly

SAN FRANCISO (AP) — "I could not do a thing like this. It is not like me . . . I couldn't do a thing like this unless I was out of my head for an hour or so, and I don't think I was."

A postal investigator testified yesterday that those were the words of an Army captain accused of mailing an explosive that detonated at San Francisco International Airport March 18.

The federal court trial of Capt. Alvin A. Klein, 30, went into its third day today. He admits mailing the explosive from Saigon, South Viet Nam, to his wife in Chicago, and is charged with intending to hurt her.

But, postal investigator James V. P. Conway told the court yesterday, Klein told him that he "did not do it knowingly."

Two clerks were injured when the package exploded March 18 in a mail room at the airport.

Arrested Korean Hero Is Named Candidate

SEOUL (AP)—The military regime's abrupt arrest of ailing ex-Premier Yo-Chan (Tiger) Song, a hero of the Korean War, sent his political stock soaring today. One party named him as its candidate for the presidency and other parties rallied to his cause.

While Song languished in dreaded Mapo Prison, the Liberal Democratic party's central committee met in Seoul and unanimously nominated him to oppose strongman Gen. Chung Hee Park in the presidential election Oct. 15.

Many Koreans had expressed belief Song's surprise arrest yesterday was prompted by reports the Liberal Democrats intended to nominate him. The Liberal Democratic party was organized Tuesday as a breakaway movement from Park's Democratic Republican party.

In an unprecedented move, three major opposition parties merged and decided to select one candidate to oppose strongman Park.

"There is an apparent danger of a free election atmosphere being destroyed," the new party said in a statement denouncing Song's arrest.

In Washington, the State Department termed Song's rearrest "high handed."

The 47-year-old retired lieutenant general was arrested to await a military court-martial on old charges that he had illegally executed three soldiers in 1950 and slandered the military government in recent months. His trial is set for next Monday.

Navy Calls Off Search For Sunken Thresher

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy today displayed a recently recovered piece of copper tubing it said was positively identified as part of the sunken nuclear submarine Thresher. Then it called off a five-month search for the lost sub.

Navy officials told a news conference the hull has not been located, but they said it might be near the point where the latest debris was recovered by the deep-diving bathyscaphe Trieste on Aug. 24.

The tubing was the first debris unmistakably identified as coming from the submarine, which was lost April 10 with 129 Navy men and civilian technicians aboard during diving tests some 220 miles off Cape Cod.

Other material picked up from the ocean floor, about 8,400 feet down, has been described as of types used in Thresher class subs, but not definitely identifiable as part of the missing nuclear-powered craft.

Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth announced the latest debris finding, which he said "produced conclusive information that we know the general area where the Thresher lies."

Korth said the Navy may not be able to finish overhaul work on the bathyscaphe in time to use it again this year because of what he called rapidly deteriorating weather conditions in the search area in the fall.

Alarm Too Hot For Firemen

Corte Madera firemen answered an alarm that was too hot for them to handle at 4:50 p.m. yesterday.

A transformer short-circuit set fire to a power pole carrying 12,000-volt lines at 112 Walnut Avenue, reported Chief Frank L. Nelson.

He said his men didn't dare spray water on it for fear of an explosion. They called Pacific Gas and Electric Co., who cut the power and put out the blaze.

Nelson said the short-circuit was caused by light rain or fog on dusty insulators and wires. When the dust is wet it becomes an electrical conductor.

Brown Plans Charges Against Chief

Charles A. Brown, Sausalito city manager, said today he plans to file specific charges against Police Chief Howard W. Goerndt within a week.

Brown fired Goerndt on Aug. 7, effective Oct. 6. Goerndt's attorney, Harry Wainwright, promptly charged that Brown had made no specific charge against Goerndt and asked the city manager for specific reasons for Goerndt's dismissal.

"I'm working on the letter now and expect to mail it to the chief's attorney within a week," said Brown.

Goerndt has said he will appeal his dismissal to the five-member Sausalito board of review.

Brown said today the city council will appoint a fifth member to the board to fill the chair held by Frank B. Williams of 654 Sausalito Boulevard, who has left the board because of a ruling that his membership on the Marin Mosquito Abatement District board makes him ineligible to serve on the review board. He was appointed to the board of review in 1960.

Terra Linda Pool New Hours Posted

New hours for use of the Terra Linda Recreation-Parks District swimming pool for the remainder of the season were set last night by district directors.

The pool will be open weekdays from 3 to 7 p.m., Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Sundays from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. recreation director Richard T. Conzelmann said the pool will probably be closed Sept. 30.

Conzelman told the board that an average of 435 persons used the pool daily since June 1. Highest recorded attendance was 1,026 on July 26.

District directors approved an expanded cultural activities program for four-month trial. It will include extra classes in art, music and crafts for adults and children, under direction of Shirley Talcott, who has already conducted arts and crafts programs for the district on a half-time basis.

Mrs. Talcott was hired full-time at a salary of $350 a month to head the expanded program. Art festivals, films and additional concerts are planned, Conzelmann said.

A salary increase from $450 to $500 a month for maintenance superintendent Cornelius Goeree was also approved.

Next regular meeting of the board will be Sept. 25 at 8 p.m. in the community center.

These Black Sheep Can't Be Trusted!

CRAIG (AP) — A yearling black ewe that enjoys pancakes and dog food and likes to chase automobiles gave her owners on a northwestern Colorado ranch another surprise.

Law School Dean Injured In Collision

Dean Francis Richard Walsh of the University of San Francisco Law School and two other persons were injured in a two-car head-on crash on Shoreline Highway one-half mile north of Stinson Beach about 9:30 a.m. yesterday.

Walsh, 49, of 28 Spring Road, Kentfield, was rounding a curve southbound, just after entering Shoreline from Sea Drift Road, when his car sideswiped a northbound auto driven by Ruby Maxine Thomson, 36, of Stinson Beach, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Mrs. Thomson was admitted to Marin General Hospital with neck injuries and a cut tongue. Her condition today was good. Her son Gary Arthur, 16, was treated for a bruised lip. Walsh was treated for forehead bruises.

Walsh told Highway Patrolman I. D. Jump the Thomson car was on the wrong side of the road.

Negro Teacher Lists Problems

limited membership because "accommodations cannot be guaranteed."

He charged the history of the Negroes is ignored in American history courses. Gardenhire, who teaches U.S. history, said the Negro is mentioned only four times in the state-approved text he uses, and mentions are "in a derogatory sense."

Participating in the panel discussion were two other members of CORE, Mrs. Felix Kulka of Greenbrae, and Douglas Quiett, chairman of the Marin chapter. The fourth member of the panel was Marjorie Ward, employer relations representative with the State Department of Employment in San Rafael.

Miss Ward said, in response to a question, that "at this time preference to a Negro could be given" in a situation where a Negro and white, with equal qualifications, were vying for the same job.

Miss Ward and Mrs. Kulka outlined the programs of their respective offices to encourage employers to hire Negroes. Mrs. Kulka said a San Francisco bank which has a San Rafael branch had set up a tellers' training program for Negro job seekers.

Quiett commended the "aggressive role" of the state employment office in seeking jobs for members of minority groups and setting up training programs. But he said Negroes had become disillusioned in the search for better jobs and homes outside of Marin City.

"I feel that employers and the real estate board will have to lean over backwards" to improve job conditions and availability of homes for sale or rent, he declared.

Quiett said stores would not lose business if they hired Negro employees. At the worst, he said, "They should be glad to lose (the business of) one sick-minded bigot."

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated by tape recording Sunday at 12:30 p.m.

Mother Throws Rock At Police

AURORA, Colo. (AP)—Police said that a mother of three threw a brick through the plate glass window of the police department last night.

The brick narrowly missed police dispatcher Raymond Wilson whose office was showered with glass.

The children of Evelyn Dorothy Gordon, 26, were cared for while she spent the night in jail.

Mrs. Gordon explained, "I just always wanted to do it."

Overheated Cooking Oil Causes Home Fire

A fire caused by overheated cooking oil caused $1,000 damage to the kitchen of the home of Charles H. Bellach, 32 Twain Harte Lane, San Rafael at 6:32 p.m. yesterday.

The blaze was discovered by Bellach's daughter, Sandra, after the oil had flared, igniting curtains and scorching the wall.

42 Apply For Assistant School Head

Forty-two persons have applied for the job of assistant superintendent of San Rafael schools for elementary schools, Supt. Bert C. Corona's office reported today.

None came from employees of the district itself.

Eight teachers in the district have applied for the San Rafael High School vice principalship, and applications will be accepted through tomorrow.

Corona said screening committee interviews for the assistant superintendent will probably continue until after Oct. 1. The committee includes board of education members Bella H. Aaron and Walter J. Doll; Mrs. Eve Geiger, curriculum coordinator for the elementary schools; Principal Hanlon S. Tharp of Davidson Junior High School; Dr. Mitchell Voydat, assistant superintendent for high schools, and Corona.

Corona said the selection of the vice principal should be announced next week. On the screening committee are Mrs. Aaron, Voydat, Corona, Terra Linda High School Principal George Yertson, San Rafael High School Principal Alfred N. Thomson and San Rafael High School teacher Robert Krohn.

The former assistant superintendent, Dr. Mildred B. Barnard, resigned this summer to take a college teaching job. The new vice principal will succeed Gary Dunn, who left to become superintendent of schools in Clarksburg, Yolo County.

Crosby's Son Sued For Divorce

SANTA MONICA (AP) — Mrs Dennis Crosby filed for divorce today from one of the twin sons of crooner Bing Crosby. Mrs Crosby charged her husband with mental and physical cruelty.

The couple was married May 4, 1958 and separated last Aug. 16.

Mrs. Crosby also seeks custody of their children, Dennis, 4, Patrick, 2, and Gregory, 11. Gregory is her son by a previous marriage who was adopted by Crosby.

Marin CORE Unit Butts Heads With Sausalito School Board

CORE chapter. He said the open enrollment policy should be considered a temporary solution.

The board also agreed to seek a written opinion from the county counsel's office on whether the present situation, with a high preponderance of Negro children in Manzanita School but almost none in Bayside School, is legal on the basis of recent court rulings and opinions of Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk.

Within seven days after receipt of the opinion, representatives of CORE will meet with a committee of the school board to discuss further steps. At that time a new committee, with representatives of the school board, CORE and the communities of Marin City and Sausalito, will be named.

This last committee will then try to come up with a specific recommendation for achieving racial balance in the schools.

One possible solution was offered by Wolfe. He said the district was small enough so that all the students in the kindergarten and first grade could be taught at one school, all the second and third grades at another, and so on.

But Juanita Cobb of Marin City, the only Negro member of the board, said money would first have to be found for transportation.

Wolfe said any action by the board at the instigation of CORE would probably bring a reaction from many Sausalito parents.

"Then you're suggesting we sue," said John Gardenhire, a CORE member from San Rafael and teacher in the San Jose School District.

"I think the community would accept a court decision much better," acknowledged Wolfe.

Kowski said he feared moves toward racial balance in the schools would endanger plans for ability grouping of children. Gardenhire claimed ability grouping should be junked where one group of children is culturally deprived at the beginning. He said integration is a more serious educational problem.

"I still feel the neighborhood schools are best," Kowski said. He noted that after the fourth grade, the schools are integrated.

"The educational battle is lost by the fourth grade," shot back Gardenhire. "It has to start in kindergarten."

THREE DUCKS, THEN ONE EXPLOSION

Dick Drott, Houston Colt .45 pitcher, kept Giant batters ducking yesterday at Candlestick Park until the fifth inning when Orlando Cepeda unloaded a three-run homer that sparked a six-run inning and an 8-3 victory for the Giants. In above pictures three batters, Jim Davenport (upper left), Jack Sanford (upper right) and Harvey Kuenn (bottom left) duck away from high inside pitches. At bottom right Cepeda unloads his bomb. HEATED SALARY DISPUTE SETTLED

Eagles Give In—Stars Return

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sonny Jurgensen, star passer of the Philadelphia Eagles, and his only substitute, King Hill, signed 1963 contracts today, settling a salary dispute that saw them walk out of the club's Hershey, Pa., training camp yesterday.

"We accomplished what we set out to do," said Jurgensen after a half hour conference with Eagles General Manager Vince McNally.

The talks between the quarterbacks and McNally apparently were not amicable, as the G.M. at one point ripped the handle off his chair and hurled it across the room.

Jurgensen further indicated the heated air of the meeting when in answer to a question about whether they expected disciplinary action for walking out of camp without leave, replied:

"There might be some fines, although I think Nick (Coach Nick Skorich) was just as anxious as we were to get this settled."

Jurgensen and Hill left camp because they said McNally had refused to sit down and work out their 1963 contracts.

"It's a tough thing to have over you," said Jurgensen, "playing exhibition games without a contract. It's a calculated risk. If we should be injured and be unable to play we would automatically be subject to a 10 per cent cut in our salaries."

McNally, who had virtually nothing to say to newsmen when he arrived at the Eagles office from Hershey, left after the conference, saying, "They are all yours."

The players refused to disclose salary terms.

Sadder, Wiser Giants Will Show More Respect For L.A. This Time

CONNOLLY

The last flickering hope of the Giants to soothe the wounds of defeat they received at the hands of the Dodgers presents itself tomorrow night, Saturday and Sunday afternoon. It winds up the feuding for 1963 between the outfits.

I'd say the SFers are a little older, a little wiser and a heck of a lot more realistic about the Dizzy Dodgers than they were a week ago.

Habit is a terrible thing and, because of the false reasoning that they had the Indian-sign on the Dodgers, our Giants went down south with visions of a 1962 repeat performance. But the el foldo Dodgers didn't fold, and instead reared back and smote the Giants brutally and artistically by outplaying 'em, out-pitching 'em and out scoring 'em to win three out of the four vital games.

Now that some of the starch in the heads of Giant philosophers has softened, they'll go into this three-game setto with a great deal of respect for the ball club that was accused of folding last year.

What happened to the Dodgers in 1962, didn't happen to the Giants in 1963.

IN 1962 the Dodgers lost Sandy Koufax, greatest and winningest southpaw pitcher in the National League. When he was sidelined it broke the spirit and the backbone of a club which, until that time, looked like a cinch.

In 1963 the Giants were somewhat crippled but managed to hobble along and make from six to eight runs daily but with such gosh awful pitching the runs wouldn't standup. And besides, no miracles were happening in their behalf.

Now that the steam has almost been turned off, maybe the Giants will wake up and learn for themselves that there is more to winning than just "desire." They'll find out you have to do a little thinking, too. And the manager can't or isn't supposed to do all the thinking either.

THE REVERSAL of form, while stunning, is par for the Giants. They did it for Manager Bill Rigney in 1959 and to prove how neutral they are to managers, they did it to Al Dark in 1963.

Every Tom, Dick and Harry has a cure-all for the Giants. And it is good only because it shows great interest in the welfare of the club still remains.

Some of the second guessers say the break-up of the Latin group on the Giants is necessary if the club is to operate smoothly.

Others say give up some of those "cream puff" bonus babies they've been nursing for years and trade 'em off for players who are not walking around with greenbacks sticking out of their pockets.

But whatever is the answer to the Giant problem, let me say it is being given plenty of attention. Horace Stoneham, who has been accused of being too loyal to those he hires and won't admit their faults soon enough, is beginning to see the light. Horace really is "concerned" over a lot of things. But he keeps everything to himself, so until he begins turning on the record player, we'll just have to keep on guessing.

Giant Hitting Spree Brings Club To Life

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Optimists say it's the start of a new surge toward first place.

Pessimists say it's happening because the Giants are out of the National League pennant race and the pressure is off.

Either way, the San Franciscans are hitting the baseball with new-found authority and, for the first time in a week, have won two games in a row. But they're still third, 8½ games behind Los Angeles and 3½ back of St. Louis.

Bob Bolin, 8-4, tried to make it three straight when he faced Houston and Don Nottebart, 8-6, in the closer of a two-game series today.

The Giants pounded the Colts 8-3 yesterday with 11 hits, giving them 24 runs and 27 hits for two days' work.

Orlando Cepeda slammed his second three-run homer in two days and Willie McCovey added a two-run clout that helped Jack Sanford to his 14th victory against 12 losses.

Cepeda, who upped his batting average to .310 with three hits in five trips, revealed that he's using a 35-ounce bat because he feels so much stronger than in September, 1962, when he used a 33-ouncer.

He credited a layoff from winter ball for his strength and said, "The heavier bat feels better to me—more powerful."

The Colts took a 2-0 lead in the third on a double, two singles and a sacrifice fly, but Cepeda's 26th homer in the fifth following singles by Harvey Kuenn and Chuck Hiller put the Giants ahead to stay.

Three more runs scored in the fifth as the Giants routed Dick Drott. Felipe Alou singled and Tom Haller walked. Jim Davenport also walked and when ball four went wild, Alou scored from second.

Haller came home from third when catcher John Bateman tried to pick him off as Davenport stole second. Jose Pagan's single scored Davenport.

Cepeda's single preceded McCovey's 35th homer in the sixth. It was McCovey's first homer since Aug. 14.

Former University of Santa Clara star Ernie Fazio singled home the final Colts run in the ninth inning of the speedy 1 hour 53 minute contest.

Sanford scattered nine hits, had two strikeouts and walked three.

WILLS RETURNS FOR SERIES WITH GIANTS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Shortstop Maury Wills will be in the Los Angeles line-up for the start of the season's final series between the Dodgers and the San Francisco Giants.

Wills is in Spokane, Wash., where his wife Gertrude had a stillborn child. Maury left the Dodgers last Sunday night.

The series in San Francisco will be played Friday night, Saturday and Sunday.

Pennant Fever Hits Cards; Farewell Gift For Musial?

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

General Manager Bing Devine says he can see "definite signs" of a St. Louis Cardinals pennant victory despite a wavering voice from Los Angeles that keeps saying that's a lot of bird-seed.

Devine claims that the Cardinal players, all fired up by a seven-game winning streak which has cut the Dodgers' lead to five games, honestly feel they can overtake Walt Alston's crew.

The Cards, who beat the Mets, 6-5, last night while the Cubs downed the Dodgers, 2-1, in 11 innings have two big things going for them — the schedule and a burning desire to win the pennant as a fitting farewell for retiring Stan Musial.

Fifteen of the Cardinals' remaining 23 games are scheduled at home and that includes three with the Dodgers.

As for the 42-year-old Musial, he has no intention of sitting around and not contributing his share.

Stan the Man socked the 473rd homer of his career last night and his 10th of the season with one man on in the fifth inning after Bill White had hammered his 24th homer in the fourth.

Ken Boyer, however, broke a 5-all tie when he singled off loser Larry Bearnarth in the seventh for his 100th run batted in of the year. Sam (Toothpick) Jones pitched to one batter in the seventh and that was enough to earn him his second victory.

Ken Hubbs snapped a four-game Dodger winning streak by singling home Andre Rodgers in the 11th inning with the winning run for the Cubs.

Hubbs delivered his game-winning blow off Ken Rowe, the Dodgers' third pitcher, after starter Bob Miller and Ron Perranoski had held Chicago to one run through the first 10 innings. Lindy McDaniel picked up his 11th win in relief of starter Cal Koonce.

In other National League games, the Braves blanked the Pirates, 1-0, as Warren Spahn won his 19th, the Phillies nipped the Reds, 3-2, and the Giants defeated the Colts, 8-3.

The Yankees lengthened their American League lead to 12½ games with a 5-4 triumph over the Senators, the Twins beat the Angels, 4-2, the Athletics took two from the White Sox, 4-2 and 7-3, the Tigers topped the Red Sox, 6-1, and the Orioles downed the Indians, 6-5.

Spahn stopped the Pirates on four hits for his seventh straight victory and 60th shutout of his career. One more win is all the 42-year-old lefthander needs to equal Christy Mathewson's modern major league record of winning 20 games 13 times. Lee Maye's 11th homer off loser Bob Friend in the third inning provided the only run of last night's game.

Mays Doesn't Blame Anyone For Collapse

Willie Mays, in the final day of a half-week rest from the nervous exhaustion, doesn't blame anyone in the San Francisco Giants organization for his second bout with fatigue within a year.

"I believe everybody in the organization knows I don't blame them," Mays said yesterday from his San Francisco home.

Mays slumped to one knee Monday while batting against Chicago and was immediately sent home to rest. He won't put on a uniform again until tomorrow night, when the Giants open a three-game series with Los Angeles.

Mays, a reported $100,000 center fielder who is used in virtually every game unless he is hurt, also collapsed last September and missed four days of play.

"I had to play him as long as I could and this year it is tougher than ever," explained Giants' Manager Alvin Dark. "We had only 23 players. Everybody had to play and everybody was tired." The need to carry two young bonus pitchers on the roster has trimmed Giants' bench strength.

Dark said, "There was no spot where we could take Willie out. We had to play him where there was a spot we could win. Everybody's tired. Harvey Kuenn is tired. Most of the players are tired. Willie just played until he was completely exhausted. We had no way of telling how tired he was."

Until last weekend the Giants were in the thick of the National League pennant race. Then they lost three of four to the Dodgers and a doubleheader to the Cubs, and fell to third place, 9½ games out of the lead.

Mays, with a .387 August batting average, had carried the Giants offense for the month prior to the Dodger series.

McNear's Beach In San Rafael Is Designed To Please Entire Family

Weather on San Francisco Bay is never what one might consider standard. Just a mish-mash of the unexpected. And you'll never change it by banging the mercury about in the barometer. So, weren't we lucky with the Labor Day holiday? It could have been just as easily wind-in-the-face, fog-in-the-hair — and waves four feet high.

The sun was warm. The water blue and beautiful, as only this bay can be, a time to make all the gray days unimportant. Chlorine-white sheet sails were sketched on the water. Larger cruisers made a bee-line as far as the Bird Cage, then fanned out to various courses. Boats pulled skiers in the area of McNear's Beach, sounding like hysterical hornets.

"YES, THE place was really jumping," reported Merritt Pollock, one of the partner-owners of this popular Marin resort.

You'll find McNear's Beach by driving out Third Street in San Rafael, then on Pt. San Pedro Rd. until you come to the short resort road that goes down to the water's edge on the east side of Marin's shoreline. This north end of the bay is known as San Pablo Bay. Pull your boat over to the ramp. This one's open all year, through most weather and tidal conditions.

This is a place of palm trees, lush green lawns, heated swimming pool—and a long, sandy beach. Bring your picnic lunch or the ingredients for a barbecue. All facilities for cooking are at your disposal. Or, for those who prefer eating the easy way, there is an all-year coffee shop.

THE YACHTER will find rest rooms with hot showers. You can reserve large picnic-barbecue areas for groups. Or if you prefer an indoor shin-dig, then consider leasing McNear's roomy "barn." There is also an outdoor dance pavilion.

Boating families with active "small fry" and teen-agers will find this spot geared to please all ages. Ski boats take off from the beach. The smaller kids have their special beach area; or they'll find fun in the heated pool. Two lifeguards will have their "eagle" eyes on them. They will be on duty every weekend and holiday through Nov. 11. Two volleyball nets, swings and slides also add to the fun.

Labor Day is over. Maybe you're one of those who swear they smell Autumn just around the corner. But 'tain't necessarily so. Now comes the best time of the year for the boater. Usually, right up until the time of the bay storms, you should keep on with your boating plans; and if you haven't been to McNear's Beach, try it. You'll find it inexpensive fun.

CONTINUING last week's press release on the Evinrude boats for 1964: Limited shipments will probably start in November. Looking at the illustrations of these boats, we had the feeling they could be sleek sport automobiles in disguise.

These craft have exceptional space. The Sweet 16 model (16 footer) in the outboard version has five separate, marvelously comfortable seats with arm rests. There is a perfectly flat floor through the entire 44 square feet of cockpit space. This makes it unusually easy to move about in the craft.

And how about a trailer for this "gull wing" hull? Evinrude is also making sturdy, easy-to-handle trailers, designed especially for the new Evinrude boats. However, this boat will fit any conventional trailer built to handle boats of over 16 feet.

QUESTION: I have a little boat, only 12 feet long. I only use it for fishing and duck hunting close to shore. Now someone's trying to tell me I have to carry a whistle or a bell. I say my little boat doesn't need it. Who's right?

M. C., San Rafael

ANSWER: Your little Class A isn't actually required to carry a whistle or a bell. However, Coast Guard requirements foot note this, saying, "While certain classes of boats are not required by equipment laws to carry these signal devices, the Rules of the Road require ALL BOATS to give proper signals if a signaling situation develops."

So, it seems the answer may be: Keep out of signaling situations. Keep your boat in your garage—or buy your whistle to be safe.

CINCY STAR ARRESTED

Pinson Roughs Up Writer

CINCINNATI (AP)—Earl Lawson and Vada Pinson haven't gotten along for some time. Now the Cincinnati Reds' center fielder is up for a hearing on an assault and battery charge filed by the sportswriter.

Pinson allegedly grabbed Lawson's shirt last night in the Reds' clubhouse after Cincinnati dropped a 3-2 decision to Philadelphia. The quarrel involved an article in Tuesday's Cincinnati Post & Times-Star that said Pinson does not bunt enough and may lose the National League's batting crown as a result.

"He grabbed me by the shirt and pushed me up against the wall," said Lawson, who was slapped by Pinson once last year. "I walked away from the clubhouse and found a phone and called police."

Pinson was booked and released on $300 bond pending the hearing scheduled in police court today.

"I have always done what the manager (Fred Hutchinson) wants me to do," said Pinson, who is third in the league with a .321 batting average. "I'm not taking my orders from Lawson. I'm taking my orders from Hutch. Whatever Hutch wants me to do, that's what I'm gonna do."

Boccabella's Move To Cubs Tops Reports From Minors

Top news from the Marin baseballers in the minor leagues was the calling up of first baseman John Boccabella who has joined the Chicago Cubs at Candlestick Park against the San Francisco Giants last Monday.

Boccabella, who was called up from Pocatello, Idaho, of the Pioneer League, had a big debut for the Cubs, collecting two singles in seven trips to the plate during the Labor Day doubleheader.

The San Anselmo slugging sensation finished up the season at Pocatello with a .389 batting mark, 30 homers, 98 runs and more than 90 runs batted in. He was voted Rookie of the Year in the Pioneer League.

Doug Wilson of Larkspur, another promising baseballer who is playing with Decatur, Ill., of the Midwest League, batted .370 for the week, according to Player Periscope of Novato.

Wilson, an outfielder, had 10 hits in 27 at bats to raise his batting mark to .264. His week's output included two doubles and two RBI's.

Ken Anderson of San Rafael, outfielder for Waycross, Ga., of the Georgia-Florida League, finished out his season with six hits in 19 at bats for a week's mark of .316. On the season, Anderson finished his first year in the pro circuit with a .235 batting mark. He had 16 runs batted in, three homers, a triple and seven doubles.

Ron Blum, shortstop for St. Cloud, Minn., of the Northern League, had six hits in 29 at bats for the week. The Larkspur youth remained with a batting average of .216 with 35 RBI's.

Neil Austinson of San Anselmo, outfielder for Lexington, N. C., of the West Carolina League, had only one hit in nine trips to the plate for the week. On the season, Austinson is batting .247 with 35 runs batted in. He has five homers, two triples and 13 doubles.

Pitcher Ron Cole of Mill Valley, with Modesto of the California League, hurled in one game in the last reported week and won it. He hiked his year's record to five wins and six losses and his earned run mark is at 5.40. In the last reported game, he struck out five, walked two and allowed only five hits.

Oakland Raiders Cut Seven From '63 Grid Roster

SANTA ROSA (AP)—The Oakland Raiders, possibly trying to trade for linemen before Saturday's American Football League opener at Houston, have cut two starting offensive linemen and five other players.

Coach Al Davis reduced his squad to the AFL limit of 33 men yesterday when he chopped tackles Jack Stone and Charlie Brown, who'd started throughout the exhibition campaign, fullbacks George Pierovich and Charlie Rieves, end Dobie Craig, center Dan Birdwell and defensive halfback Warren Powers.

Many Hunters Shot Limits When Dove Season Opened This Year

STEVENS

Judging by the scattered reports that have filtered in, dove hunting success was a matter of geography. But, on the whole, the opening weekend yielded as predicted. Quite a few shotgunners stuck around to bring home this year's generous double limit. Only one of my contact-men reported frustration. Everett Elrod informed that his Sunday take was only four doves, but admitted he worked the wrong area. Some of his friends shot in the safflower stubble only a short distance away and bagged easy limits in spite of the foggy overcast. The general concensus, however, is that the dove population is up in most areas, with prospects of the birds sticking around the usual haunts if the present weather continues mild.

CONSIDERING the large number of nimrods leaving the bay areas it would seem that the fishing pressure would have been somewhat less severe than usual, but a bird's-eye view of the San Francisco Bay region proved different.

A veritable armada of water craft, party boats, private cruisers and outboard skiffs cluttered the waters off Alcatraz, Treasure Island, Racoon Strait, and the Oakland side of T.I. as well as the Flats off the Alameda Air Station. The area in what we call the Mission Rock sector produced hundreds of fresh run stripers; the Sand Bar off the Rock paid off in a big way on both Sunday and Monday.

I WISH I could add that bait fishing in the upper San Pablo Bay also produced, but alas and alack, 'tis not the case. On the China Camp side of the bay, results were very poor. Joe Nerviani, of Joe's Launching at Santa Venetia summed it up: "Eight fish on Sunday—one fish on Monday." With fairly calm water and dozens of boats working the area from China Camp to the mouth of Petaluma Creek—on the Marin side of the San Pablo, and the favorite spots on the Contra Costa side—both reported very few bass taken. In spite of the larger number of anglers trying, we can only assume that the minus tides, as usual, activated fishing in the S. F. Bay area and kept the hoped-for migration upstream from materializing.

A glance at the calendar insists that the time is fast approaching when the annual good bait fishing in the San Pablo gets started; a look at the tidal state this week, and over the coming weekend gives us reason to believe that it may happen this week. Here's hoping. Goodbye, good luck and keepon trying!

Pony League Stars Feted At Banquet

The champion team and members of the All-Star squad of the North Marin Pony Baseball League were honored at a fathers-sons banquet last week at Sabella's Restaurant.

The champion team, North State Tile, and All-Star players received trophies and awards, as well as players 14 who are being graduated from Pony League competition.

Froehling Upsets Roy Emerson

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — The back of the Australian tennis dynasty is broken—and some of the most telling licks were dealt by a stringbean cannonballer from Florida anxious to avenge a big snub.

"It was the greatest tennis I ever played, and I couldn't have picked a better time to play it," Frank Froehling III of Coral Gables, Fla., said excitedly last night after pulling off one of the biggest upsets of the year.

He knocked out Roy Emerson of Australia, rated the world's No. 1 amateur, with an explosive service and volleying attack in the fourth round of the National championships 6-4, 4-6, 9-7, 6-2. Although second-ranked nationally, Froehling had been overlooked by Davis Cup selectors and the seeding committee this year.

The victory erased the last Australian from the field, marking the first time since 1950 that Australia has been shut out of the men's quarterfinals at Forest Hills.

FOUR AMERICANS LEFT

It puts an entirely different aspect on the Davis Cup challenge round, to be contested in December in Adelaide, Australia. Going into the quarterfinals, half of which will be contested today, are four Americans, Froehling, Marty Riessen, Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston; two Brazilians Ronald Barnes and Thomas Koch; Mexico's Rafael Osuna and England's talented but erratic Bobby Wilson.

Wilson, who smashed young Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis out of his path 6-3, 6-0, 6-1 yesterday, is Froehling's next opponent. They meet in one of the two men's matches today, with Ralston and Barnes clashing in the other.

14 Returnees For S. R. Bulldogs

(Second in a series on Marin Athletic League football prospects.)

By RALPH CHATOIAN

San Rafael High School's head football coach Bob Muster promises his team will have a better record than that of last year as his Bulldog team will have much more experience than the team of '62.

Fourteen lettermen returned to the San Rafael gridiron this season ready to do battle. Last year there were only six returning boys who received prior football letters. S. R. finished with a 1-5 mark.

Among the boys missing this season will be halfback Mike Shafer, one of the top rushing backs in the league last year, and quarterback Tom Zunino. But Zunino's spot will be filled by Wade Roberts (5-11, 160) who saw considerable action from the QB position last season.

Among other returnees are a pair of halfbacks, John Patrick (5-10, 172) and Steve Spurling (5-11, 178) and two fullbacks, Mike Elliott (6-1, 198) and John O'Connell (5-10, 178).

San Rafael's line will be anchored by tackle Rich Ahern (6-1, 195) and guard Dan Ahern (no relation) who stands six feet and weighs 175 pounds.

Both are returning seniors. Bob Stock (5-11, 193), another guard who is returning from last year's team, should also be one of the top linemen for the Bulldogs.

Other returning lettermen are centers Pat Haven (6-1, 180) and Steve Rodgers (6-2, 260), tackle Bill Henry (6-2, 187), guard Brad Davis (5-11, 170) and ends Steve Jensen (5-11, 167) and Bob Olson (5-10, 156).

One of the players up from the junior varsity who has shown promise is senior quarterback Jim Schmidt who will be helping out Roberts during the season.

Muster feels the Marin Athletic League title chase will be between Redwood, Novato and Tamalpais. From there, he said, it should be a tossup. "If we avoid injuries and get some good performances from the boys up from the javees, we'll do all right," he said.

Muster said the team will definitely miss the running ability of Shafer. "We will be passing more this year," he added. "Probably we'll run 60 per cent of the time and pass for 40 per cent."

The head grid coach said he has been pleased with the passing game so far in practice.

Spurling will be a late joiner to the team because of an off-season injury. The halfback, who also plays basketball quite well, suffered an ankle injury during the summer Drake Basketball League.

Tim Harr, up from the junior varsity, may be the most exciting of the Bulldog backs because of his ability to follow blockers well and execute a change of pace while packing the ball. He will be a definite break-away threat.

San Rafael will open its season Sept. 13 with a home game against Arcata, beginning at 8 p.m. on the high school field. First league contest for the Bulldogs will be Oct. 4 against Novato, also on the San Rafael home field. Assistant coaches for the varsity are Bud Chadwick and Jack Sims.

EXTRA POINTERS — San Rafael High School's Wade Roberts (14) holds as tackle Rich Ahern (72) gets ready to practice a place kick during a practice session on the high school field. Head grid coach Bob Munster (kneeling) is giving some tips as guard Bob Stock (64) looks on.

OPEN LETTER TO OUR MARIN COUNTY CUSTOMERS AND NEIGHBORS

Almost two years ago, Ames Ford was the leader in a voluntary agreement made by all Marin County new car dealers to remain closed on Sundays in an effort to permit our employees to enjoy a well-deserved day of rest and worship with their families. It was agreed that dealers would remain open the two Sundays following new model announcements.

Now, we find some dealers apparently consider an agreement of little or no consequence, and are remaining open on Sundays on pretexts of "serving their public" or some other fancied urgency. Ames Ford would rather stand by its word, as it does in all ads and claims. We're doing better than ever since we established our closed-on-Sunday policy. Can our "Flighty" fellow dealers claim the same?

Marinite To Help Colombia With TV

Armed with a radio engineer's license and a fair knowledge of Spanish, 21-year-old Richard Breyer of Kentfield is ready to lend a hand at reviving educational television in Colombia.

As a member of the Peace Corps, Breyer has completed three months of training and will leave Tuesday for New York, en route to Colombia.

"My job will be technical installation and repair of receivers," he said. "I'll be traveling around."

Colombia had educational television before, but it was discontinued, he said. "Our job will be to set it up again and make it more extensive."

During Peace Corps training he worked with a group of 17 Colombians who will be operating the TV network. The group will study television facilities in New York, Washington and Miami before leaving for Colombia.

Breyer underwent training this summer at University of New Mexico at Albuquerque and University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

He said he applied for the Peace Corps about three years ago saying he'd be available in 1963 and "had sort of forgotten about it" until he got word last Christmas that he was accepted for training. He started training as soon as he was graduated from University of California in June with a major in history.

He admits to some knowledge of the Spanish language and had worked at a Spanish language radio station in San Francisco as well as radio station KSAY.

Breyer is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Breyer of 313 Goodhill Road.

Snubs Poland For Stanford

A San Rafael man, for the second year in a row, has been awarded a fellowship which will pay his full tuition and living expenses for graduate study at Stanford University.

Last year Louis M. Iribarne was one of three persons in the county to win Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation award, which paid tuition plus $1,500.

This year Iribarne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Iribarne, 1227 Irwin Street, won the National Defense foreign language fellowship, which pays tuition plus $2,250.

Iribarne is now visiting relatives in Australia. He turned down a fellowship which would have allowed him to study in Warsaw to take the prize at Stanford.

Specializing in the Russian Language, Iribarne plans to teach after earning his doctorate. He is a graduate of Notre Dame University, South Bend, Ind.

WARNING TO HUBBY

Tone Down Eating If The Fat Of The Land Settles At Waist

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—If hubby's got a spare tire or a bay window, he probably also has a chip on his shoulder.

"The makers of many things plot against us fat men," says he.

Compact cars, form-fitting restaurant seats, and new clothing designs all make it seem that designers of many things don't love the fat man.

To get the chip off the shoulder and vanish the millstone of blubber, the wife's got to serve up food for thought—along with food aimed at helping the master lean.

Here's some food for thought. Serve to the mate any time, but don't preach, please.

—ONCE A MALE has reached full growth he should not vary from what he weighed at age 25, doctors suggest. Since metabolism slows with age, a man actually needs increasingly fewer calories. He must tone down the old eating habits to allow for his diminishing need for energy.

—The reasons for staying in shape are manifold. Appearance is one. Paunches are passe. An expanding waistline is no longer proof of an expanding wallet, it was demonstrated in a recent study of New York City residents. The survey revealed a "striking relationship between obesity and socio-economic status of origin." Obesity was seven times higher among those reared in the lowest social class as compared with those reared in the highest of classes.

—PEOPLE OVERWEIGHT have far more suscepitbility to illness — particularly diabetes, arteriosclerosis and heart disease. And they tend to have shorter lives. A study by the society of actuaries found that men 10 per cent overweight have an excess mortality rate of nearly 20 per cent above that of all persons insured as normal risks. Those 30 per cent too heavy have a death rate of more than 40 per cent higher.

It's been demonstrated the only way to lose weight is to get the body to use its stored fat by taking in fewer calories than it needs.

The National Research Council reports a 150-pound man between the age of 25 and 45 should get about 3,200 calories a day. If he weighs 165, for example, he's got to shave the intake well below 3,200 calries a day to deflate.

IT SOUNDS SIMPLE as pie. But when translated into refusing a hunk of strawberry shortcake, the statistics become horrible examples of man's inability to resist palate temptations.

For help with your mate's reducing problems, note a plan followed by some in the executive suites: Keep cans of measured-calorie liquid meals in the office refrigerator. Skip the business lnch. Substitute the low-calorie meal in a can. Some thinning executives have the formula diet for two meals a day.

A Miami, Fla., trucking firm goes one step further. In addition to the canned lunches, employes are invited to work out in a company gym.

PRESIDENT James C. Ryder feels that "you don't work as well or think as clearly if you are in poor physical condition." He even installed vending machines which dispense the dietary meals and lean sandwiches.

The firm's gym instructor says the goal is to "improve general health, prevent heart attacks, strokes and other problems."

Medical science says ditto—to the fat of the land.

Mrs. Robert J. Kreps Heads Chapter Of Sweet Adelines

Leading the Marin Chapter of Sweet Adelines as president this year is Mrs. Robert J. Kreps of Tiburon, who has been singing with the group about two years.

Aside from her singing Kathy Kreps also keeps busy bowling, being a member of two leagues and during summer she's active with Scouting and Little League for the Kreps children, Jeff, 11, and Denise, 8. The Belveron Guild of Sunny Hills is another of her activities.

The Kreps family has lived in Marin four and a half years. Mr. Kreps is transportation analyst for Standard Oil Co. of California.

Mrs. Kreps said that Sweet Adelines activities for the year will include an appearance at the Marin Chapter SPEBSQSA annual show Sept. 21 in San Rafael High School auditorium, a booth at the Mill Valley arts festival, modeling in the Sweet Adelines international convention style show in Oakland in October, as well as singing engagements throughout the Bay Area.

Examine The Musts For A Good Party

There are some parties that are huge successes — others disastrous flops. What makes the difference?"

LET US EXAMINE the musts of a good party. First on the list is the desire, the enthusiasm to give a party. If the occasion is one of obligation, you have lost half the battle to start with. You must look forward to every little detail in planning a party in order for it to even have a chance of being successful. This means planning an exciting guest list, good food and drink, color wonderment in the presentation of your table setting and food choice. It means the right flower for the right vase for the right spot. The right napkin, the prettiest plate, the loveliest glass for each different drink. It means a good choice of records — ranging from robust entrance music to mellow dance music for later on. It means planning of party games—of good things to do.

And it means, above all, a good hostess.

WHAT IS A GOOD hostess? She is ever-thoughtful of her guests' needs — whether these be toward food and drink, or making a private telephone call, or changing into something more comfortable, or arranging for a ride home.

The perfect hostess is lovely to look at, always exciting, always ready to do anything to pep up the party. She, after all is the star of the show. She performs for her guests in every capacity.

Will your party take place at Halloween time? At Christmas? New Year's Eve? Will it be a birthday party? A surprise party? An Easter party? An April Fool party? Will it take place at the beginning of summer—the first real day of fall? Each of these conjures up romantic pictures of real party excitement.

Halloween — pumpkins — black and orange — chrysanthemums—perhaps a costume party—turkeys — carrot molds with black olives — candied yams and cranberry sauce with grated orange peels — mounds of orange sherbet with chocolate covered mints and a real witch's brew to warm the cockles of the heart.

Christmas? Red and green—perhaps a tree-trimming party—pines and holly—Christmas carols around the piano—a tremendous roast beef with Yorkshire pudding and the last of the fresh broccoli you grew in your vegetable garden — a beautiful Christmas pudding topped with hard sauce.

New Year's Eve? Why not make it formal? The men in tuxedos—the ladies in those wonderful long gowns they bought but never wore? And champagne—perhaps a champagne punch with out-of-season peaches — and then — at around 2:00 a.m. — ham and eggs with lots of cinnamon toast and gallons of hot coffee —with gobs of freshly whipped cream?

OR A BIRTHDAY party with a theme? Does he like golf? Or is his hobby barbecuing? Or collecting records — old prints perhaps?

The colors—his favorites—the flowers—oh—why not carnations—the food—everything he likes best—and an enormous birthday cake — with candles—definitely candles — and when you bring it out—dim the lights—make an entrance with the cake—and have everyone join in singing "Happy Birthday."

In other words—the planning is the key to the secret—excitement, the ingredient.

Iron Curtain Tennis Star Says Our Hurry Habit Is Contageous

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American habit of hurry is a contageous one, a visitor from behind the iron curtain finds.

Susie Kormoczky, Hungary's number one tennis player, observed that "I think I'm getting a little American. I find myself rushing."

"You know," she said, "your mentality in America is so different from ours in Europe. You're so busy being busy you can't stop being busy. I am sure you are happy to be that way. But I would have trouble if I lived in America. I am not that fast.

Miss Kormoczky, on her second tennis-playing visit to the United States, is one of 76 players from all the continents outside North America invited to compete in the amateur U.S. national tennis championships under way at Forest Hills, N.Y., stadium. The matches, with 300 entries from 35 countries, will continue through Sept. 8.

Hungary and Czechoslovakia are the only iron curtain countries represented this year, the second year in which the privately-financed "people to people" project sports committee has invited foreign players to come to the matches as its guests.

Miss Kormoczky, who has been playing tennis for 30 of her 39 years, spoke strongly in favor of such exchanges of peoples.

"Whether in sports, or in other ways of life," she said, "the exchange of ideas . . . getting to know other peoples . . . this is good."

Asked where she was when the bloody anti-Soviet revolt occurred in Hungary seven years ago, she answered only, "In Budapest." She was reluctant to discuss politics or the living standard of her people today except to say that "life is very nice now. The people are living comfortably."

The tennis star, a slim brunette with hazel eyes and a height of only five feet, has been the top-ranked woman player of her country "for ages," she said.

She played in tournaments in St. Petersburg and Miami, Fla., in 1961, and through the years has played in tournaments at Wimbledon, Cote D'Azur on the Mediterranean coast, in Rome, Hamburg, Prague, Paris, and Moscow, as well as in her native Budapest.

She expressed worry of her showing at Forest Hills because, like many of the guests, she will be playing on grass courts to which she is not accustomed.

She is used to daily workouts on the clay courts not far from her house in the Hungarian capital.

In private life, Miss Kormoczky is the daughter of an architect and the wife of Goro Sandor, a professor of medicine at the University of Budapest. The couple has one child, a 14-year-old girl who rapidly is developing into a competitive player, her mother said.

The tennis star speaks fluent English—she learned the language, not in school, but through associates of her husband and from travelers to the city, she said. Her regular job is with an export company in Budapest.

Soccer ranks as the number one spectator sport in her country, she said, but tennis is swinging high in popularity for the participation sports-minded. The government backs the Hungarian tennis association, which will sponsor an international tourney in Budapest next summer. "I hope the Americans will come," she said.

Miss Kormoczky said she had been playing tennis steadily ever since she was 9, except for a time out last year for surgery.

"I developed tennis elbow," she said. "Now you'd think that after 30 years of play, I'd be ready to settle back and not compete.

John William Lucas Of Kentfield Claims Judith Denning As Bride

John William Lucas of Kentfield claimed Judith Ann Denning as his bride in a recent double ring ceremony at St. Rita's Church in Fairfax.

The Rev. Nicholas Farana officiated for the 2 o'clock rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Denning of Fairfax.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin.

Preceding the bride to the altar in a gown of blue satin was her sister, Mrs. Rita Sanchez of Carpinteria, Calif.

Noel William Brookman of San Rafael acted as best man and ushers were the bride's brothers, Richard and Michael Denning of Fairfax, and Jerry Courteau of San Rafael.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

The new Mrs. Lucas was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and College of Marin. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Foster of Rohnert Park and Mrs. Agnes Denning of Daly City.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Lucas of San Rafael, was graduated from San Rafael High School and is attending College of Marin. Mary and Joanne Lucas of San Rafael are his sisters.

Following a wedding trip to Canada, the newlyweds will make their home in Kentfield.

With the exception of the opening program on Wednesday, all meetings will be on Mondays, starting at 11:30 a.m.

Wednesday speakers on "The County Schools Office" will be Dr. Virgil Hollis, county superintendent of schools; Rudy Kupfer, assistant superintendent and administrative assistant; and Ed Credell, assistant superintendent of educational services.

Speakers and topics of the other meetings scheduled are Sept. 30, Jacqueline Smith, director of Marin City program for Marin Council of Community Services, "The Negro in Marin County. Oct. 7, Mrs. Samuel Swadesh, former chief of industrial relations for the state of California, "Farm Labor in California."

October 21, Dr. John Binckley, "The Abortion Laws." Nov. 4, Miss Florence Scott, director of Marin Council of Community Services, "Chaos or Planning for Social Services." Nov. 18, Howard Jewell, assistant attorney general, "The How, Why and Where of Narcotics." Dec. 2, Vincent Hallinan, "A Lion in the Courts."

MARY RUTH CUMMINGS became the bride of Anthony Wayne Thompson at a Saturday ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Cummings of Greenbrae. The couple will live in Seattle after a Carmel wedding trip.

Decorating Circles Find That Walnut Cube's No 'Square'

Look for the walnut cube to make a hit in many decorating circles this year. The best informed homemakers are using wood cubes of all sizes for many purposes.

One handsome cube of walnut appears to be an extra party seat or end table, but it has hidden magic. Open it and you find six snack tables nested inside on lightweight chrome bases.

Other cubes of plain wood, or with accents of brass or man-made leather, open to reveal storage space inside. These are so versatile they can be used as night tables, occasional tables, or can be grouped to form a large coffee table.

Most cubes in fine woods such as walnut are used in the living and entertaining areas of the house. But for children's rooms there are wood cubes, brilliantly painted or in gay designs, to serve as chairs or step stools.

DEB MARKY COOPER will be honored at a luncheon tomorrow at Trader Vic's in San Francisco by her mother, Mrs. Joseph W. Cooper Jr. of Kentfield. Guests will include family friends and the other Marin debs who have not yet left to begin college. A Branson School graduate, Marky plans to attend the University of Southern California.

Tip-Top Condition Aids Permanent

First of all, remember that your general health and well-being are reflected in your skin and hair. If you want a "good" permanent, be sure you are in tip-top physical condition before having one.

If your hair is dry, or has split ends, it's always wise to give yourself a hot oil treatment two or three weeks in a row before getting a permanent.

So, before having your next permanent, be sure both you and your hair are in good condition. Follow these rules:

1. Never have a permanent immediately after an illness of any sort.
2. Never have a permanent immediately after an operation.
3. Never have a new permanent over the dry ends of an old one.

Longer School Term Has Big Pay-Off Prospect

Dennie B. Willis, stimulating superintendent of our Dixie School District, let go with a few challenging ideas the other night at a meeting of teachers, board members and parents. As the flannel-pants boys of Madison Avenue allegedly put it, he "ran the flag up the pole to see if anybody would salute."

Anybody interested in education certainly ought to salute, as we see it. Perhaps when his district board meets next Wednesday it will choose to take some action even more to the point.

First suggestion was to lengthen the school year by 10 days, "worth more than they appear" said Willis. These extra days, which still bring the total to only 190 which is considerably fewer than most of us work, would among other things give time for more consultation with parents.

Not only would such extra time do something to help make education a joint effort of parents and teachers working together in friendship for one of the finest causes possible—the proper building of the next generation—but it would provide a chance for special counseling of the children as individuals, sitting down with teachers in the close association never possible when their only meeting is in the crowd of the schoolroom.

Willis thinks such clinic aid "could save lots of human beings" and it seems a reasonable assumption. We like his desire to strengthen ties between teacher and pupil as against the concept of hiring more staff. Experts are needed, yes, but it's the teacher whose expertness can serve best. Of course such aid can be especially useful when the need is to help a child do better in some subject already being handled by the teacher.

Setting the example, Willis means to teach Spanish to volunteers from the seventh grades who will stay 45 extra minutes twice weekly. He thinks this is another way that extra time can be profitably used by teachers.

"I'm going to see if I can get these kids excited enough to want to learn a language," says Willis. We'll bet he can and will. The quality of excitement is a great need in education tending to be mechanized.

Willis has other points including advantage to the teachers in the way of 10 per cent permanent yearly pay hike if they agree to teach summer school every three years, rather than making it a $500-paid voluntary affair as presently. They'd attend a workshop session one of the three summers as part of the package deal, learning techniques and finding out how to make the children understand life around the world.

Taxpayers will be asked to support this program with a 20-cent rise in tax rates. At stake is a great deal more than money. Willis offers a type of dynamic thought and action in education that is beyond price.

A Quantity Of Quail

This has been a good year for quail in our Marin neighborhood. In June we had a pair shepherding an even dozen fuzzy chicks about the garden.

The neighbors' cat was naturally intrigued and spent some spare moments from his cat business stalking them, much to the distress of the lady at our house. She imagined they would all be gobbled up by this feline predator.

But it takes a pretty smart cat to outwit instinctively vigilant quail parents. This week they were back in our yard with eight handsome, almost-adult children.

Although we had not seen them for some time, we heard them all around us, calling signals for their obedient chicks. The job was master-minded by the crested, slate-blue father—an exemplary family man.

We had another pleasant quail surprise this week when we stumbled across a pair of late starters with five tiny baby chicks in tow. Quail business is flourishing in our part of Marin.

THE ALLEN-SCOTT REPORT

Nixon Out Of Limelight, But GOP Still Talks Of Him

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON —Although former Vice-President Nixon has been out of the limelight lately, there is a lot of talk about him among Republican politicos.

They are buzzing over two intriguing backstage reports:

(1) That while in Cairo recently, for meetings with President Gamal Nasser and other officials, Nixon proposed representing Egypt in the U. S. for a $2 million fee. Egypt is one of this country's big foreign aid beneficiaries. Last year, in surplus food stocks alone, Egypt got more than $102 million worth for its own currency—which remains in that country. In effect, these "sales" were largely a give-away.

(2) That there is "understanding" between Nixon and Governor Rockefeller under which, if the New Yorker fails in his bid for the 1964 presidential nomination, he will throw his support to Nixon. Former Governor Thomas Dewey, close to both men, is the reputed mastermind of this plan.

ACCORDING TO the inside account, Nasser "seriously considered" Nixon's proposal for several days. But in the end, no agreement was reached.

Since 1953 neutralist Egypt has obtained $892,834,000 in economic aid, loans, credits and surplus food from the U.S. Of this tremendous assistance, approximately two-thirds—$575 million — was extended by the Kennedy administration.

In addition to the nearly $1 billion in U.S. economic aid, Egypt has received another $1 billion in military and economic assistance from Russia.

While Egypt has a large and active publicity organization in the U.S., it does not have a "legal representative" as such.

During the Eisenhower administration, Dewey represented Turkey in that capacity for large fees. As a NATO ally, Turkey has received around $4 billion in economic and military aid. Of this immense total, more than $2.5 billion has been in military assistance, the remainder economic.

Apparently Nixon's intent, according to this backstage report, was to do for Egypt what Dewey did for Turkey.

POLITICALS — John D. Rockefeller IV, nephew of Governor Rockefeller, is getting a new Washington job. He is shifting from the Peace Corps, where he was in charge of the Philippines desk, to the State Department, where he joins the staff handling Indonesian affairs. Apparently anticipating living in the capital for some time, young Rockefeller has bought the home of Representative Robert Berry (R-N.Y.).

Please accept my appreciation for the complete coverage you gave my 80th birthday party celebration at the Art and Garden Center last Wednesday. It was really quite overwhelming! I have obtained additional copies which I am sending to family and close friends who were unable to attend, and who will enjoy seeing the pictures and reading the story in such complete detail.

I would also like to thank you for publicity given our Marin County Conservation projects in the past and look forward to continued associations in this area in the future.

Negro Desires His Rights

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In your editorial, Wednesday, Aug. 21, 1963, "Marin Would Deny None His Human Rights," the false conclusions which you so comfortably drew from the series, "The Negro in Marin," are exactly what could be expected from a superficial approach to a complex problem. A social revolution is taking place in the rest of the country but "God's in His Heaven" and all's well in Marin.

The existence of a predominately Negro community, the racial imbalance by occupation, de facto segregation in schools, the absence of Negro faces behind counters and desks and in offices, all testify to the existence of racial inequality in employment and no amount of evasion or myth peddling by a school superintendent can controvert the facts which are visible to all who can see . . . see with their eyes and their consciences. And Mr. Fradkin's articles contained no evidence which did not support this fact.

Discrimination whether subtle or blatant is, in effect, the same to the job seeker. And if discrimination is sometimes subtly practiced, the same cannot be said for the hypocrisy and complacency which denies or ignores its existence.

What "The Negro in Marin" (and society) needs is not "compassion toward his plight in many other parts of this country" but his rights in Marin now.

Things Really Are Tough

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It was interesting to note that Marin County almost won top prize for an exhibit at the State Fair in Sacramento this year. The exhibit was insured for $678,000, so it must have cost a good deal.

Marin also takes a prize in the fact that taxes, food, land values, etc., are about the highest of anywhere in the nation.

They take another prize in the fact that they commit more people to state mental hospitals than any other county in California. (Marin does not believe in local humane treatment, they prefer dispatching their citizens to the human garbage dumps and snake pits such as Napa.)

And still another prize they richly deserve is having one of the most fouled-up internal traffic problems the state has ever seen. We all admit California is overcrowded and all communities are having problems, but how long would any other community tolerate the Irwin Street underpass mess as long as it has.

A bridge could be placed across the canal at the Country Club Bowl and relieve about half the pressure at Third and Irwin, but no, Marin and their "enlightened fathers" would rather spend thousands on a Fair exhibit because Marin is already perfect.

Circle Squared —Almost

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On August 24 of this year, I was successful in "squaring the circle" by compass and ruler construction. The Greeks were working on the problem over 2300 years ago, and some of the truly great mathematicians have gone on record that a compass and ruler construction was impossible.

A definite "ratio" makes it possible. A square 20 by 20, has an area of 400 sq. in. By the method I worked out, the area of the circle had an area of 400.08 sq. in. This is nearly 100% accuracy.

As I worked this out in Marin County, I am giving you the first chance to publish it. However, through my patent attorney, I am reserving the copyright to the diagrams. I have the original sheet of graph paper, on which I drew the construction, (there are two) 17 inches x 22 inches. On it is contained the technical information and the necessary ratio which made the construction possible.

Amanda's new boy friend drew up to her doorstep in a slick new foreign sports car, and while waiting for Amanda to put in an appearance, treated her pa to a few of his views and sentiments. Amanda explained loftily, "He inherits."

IJ REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By FRED WYATT

How About Making Marin County One Big Pot Of Trouble?

I EXPECT to die pounding one of these typewriters.

Or phoning for one more fact.

Or racing to the scene of a story.

Like last Friday.

The resignation of Kentfield Fire Chief J. R. McLeran was one of those things a guy writes at past 12 noon, after deadline, when editors are hungrier than usual for the copy.

The end of the reporter's stint is only the start for the others. The city editor must edit the story. The news editor must find space for it. He or a co-worker must do a gutty headline. Etc.

SO THE McLERAN story Friday didn't say it all. Here are two ways that a chief's manifold duties weigh on his home:

1. Like the CO of a Strategic Air Command base, the chief has a "hot" phone line to his base, the firehouse. Its ring means trouble.

1. Getting public entities and soon to obey safety rules involves much time spent away from home for countless inspections.

Whatever dissatisfaction the chief may have had with his job I don't mean to be taking sides but mean only to report the human element.

I FIND the human element mostly among McLeran (who said Monday he has other interests) and the other firemen. To me the paramount interest of the fire board and the resident they represent appears to be — aside from protection — dollars. Dollars are interesting, of course, but not very — unless there are too few of them.

Chief Roy McLaren of Novato police said it was too few dollars that evoked his resignation two days earlier, though I am told it was nagging by Councilman Everett Pozzi that blew it.

And a high county official tells me it is dollars in the case of Police Chief Howard Goerndt of Sausalito police, fired for "the absence of the necessary foresight in identifying problems before they exist."

Says my source: "Goerndt isn't getting paid enough for that kind of looking into the future. They're not getting a (J. Edgar) Hoover!"

The unrest in these jobs has revived talk of merging all Marin fire and police departments so salaries can be hiked. And there is new rumbling in favor of making the county all one city and reducing the more than 100 public entities to a dozen or so.

ONE OF MY superiors the other day wondered, "What's with the new title for the public relations man at College of Marin?"

I dug into my clips. In a section in small type I had reported Jan. 11 that Herbert Blanchett's title had been changed from "coordinator of publications" to "administrative assistant to the president."

"Was his pay increased then?"

"No," I replied, "but it was raised $620 a year the month before and then $400 last July 18, making his yearly pay now $9,900."

I am not one to knock public relations men. Good ones make reporters' work easier. But if I ever went into it I'd call myself by the older title of "press agent." For me this has more dignity than the longer titles, including "vice president," which some businesses call their flacks.

It's academic with me. I'm hooked on being the town snoop, who pokes his nose everywhere and tells what happened.

"MR. LUDY, there's a fence salesman here to see you."

School Dropouts, Unemployment, Lead To Camp Program

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — While there are those who might scoff at the need or advisability of setting up a modern version of the civilian conservation corps of the 30s, there are many others who feel there is a real problem with school dropouts and unemployment of these youngsters.

The 1963 legislature adopted a law to give a test run on a California youth conservation corps. It's a modest beginning and the program is intended to put 100 boys or men, between ages 16 and 22, in a forestry camp in Riverside County to fight forest fires, work on conservation projects and, if they wish, take on some more education.

The trainees would be paid $60 a month, of which $40 would be sent home, and they could serve for six months or a year. Discipline in the camps, as being considered by a group of top state officials in charge of the pilot, would be strict.

THE PROGRAM is aimed at helping boys in that age group who are not in school and have little or no work experience. In short, it's hoped that it might teach them how to work.

State officials and legislators are optimistic that the pilot will prove a success and the program can be enlarged in future years. Without wishing to dampen this enthusiasm, it might be noted there a number of problems.

First off, of course, the pilot plan must be an honest attempt. It would be relatively simple to select 100 top teen-agers from throughout the state, send them through the camp program for six months, and write success stories about their later being placed with positions in banks, department stores or other businesses.

However, the program is not intended for such youths as they no doubt will make it on their own. The program is for those boys and young men who just can't seem to get started. During the preliminary meeting of the officials heading the program, they were asked if there might not be a problem of drop-outs in the camp plan.

IN OTHER WORDS, isn't it likely that youths who haven't stayed with school or employment might soon tire of the rigorous camp life and discipline? Albert B. Tieburg, director of the department of employment which will test applicants for the camp program, said it was hoped youths with unstable backgrounds could be screened out in testing.

Such an approach would eliminate from the program a great number who probably could best profit from it.

While one official said he regarded the pilot program as one for "delinquent prone" or "pre-delinquent" boys, others were quick to point out no label of delinquency must be attached to or associated with the program. This may present somewhat of a problem.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

By HARRY CRAFT

Paper Bag, Box Firm Opens Adding New Marin Business

Interesting new business opened less than two months ago in San Rafael is Lenrick Paper Bag and Box Co. at Harbor and Mill streets by Rick Yablon, formerly of Washington, D.C.

Yablon claims to be the only one on the West Coast offering complete coordinated packaging programs for retail stores, with matched designs and small quantity purchases. Containers include various sizes and shapes in bags and boxes for all types of merchandise in dry goods stores and specialty shops, with the merchandiser having design protection in his trading area. Both stock and special designs are handled.

Benefit to the store, says Yablon, is that it isn't necessary to keep large supplies on hand occupying valuable space. Delivery of stock designs, plain or imprinted, can be made within 10 days—on Lenrick's own trucks within a 75-mile radius.

The Lenrick plant eventually is expected to employ eight to 12 persons here, along with salesmen in outlying areas. Territory covered is the entire West Coast.

Yablon previously traveled the continental United States as a salesman for an eastern firm in the same line, and in the last nine years has won five awards for his package designs. He says he chose Marin to establish his own business because it's where he wants to live and work.

Another example of a type of concern that can be headquartered as well in this county as anywhere else.

JAMES A. HANLEY of Terra Linda, comptroller and assistant treasurer, has been elected a vice president of Boothe Leasing Corp., a subsidiary of the Greyhound Corp. Hanley joined Boothe in Los Angeles in 1960 and was transferred to the San Francisco headquarters the following year. He continues to hold his posts of comptroller and assistant treasurer.

NEW JOB ASSIGNMENTS in the freight division of Matson Navigation Co., San Francisco, designed to meet service and fleet operating requirements, will include a shift of responsibilities for two Marin County men.

Theodore E. Schulz of Lucas Valley, former assistant to the general sales manager, will become customer services manager.

Richard F. Andino of San Anselmo, fleet improvement coordinator, will transfer to a new San Francisco operations center providing integrated control of all West Coast fleet operations.

ARNOLD ORMSBEE of Beltone of Marin in San Rafael has been awarded a one-year service citation as a distributor for the Beltone Electronics Corp.

ARCHITECTS HAVE TO PLAN AHEAD. The 1964 convention of the American Institute of Architects is already programmed for June 14-18, 1964, in St. Louis. A major forum to discuss forces that contribute to the character and development of American communities will be conducted.

Gravestone Taken From Old Cemetery

A gravestone was removed from the old cemetery on Simmons Lane and dumped onto the Sunset Parksway planting strip, Novato police reported.

June Wilson of 491 Sunset Parkway Tuesday reported that the gravestone was in the parkway.

Police recovered the stone which was broken in two pieces. It was engraved "Robert R. Enyeart 1921-1935." They traced it to E. E. Enyeart of Marshall who stated that it stood on his son's grave.

Two Make Dean's List At Holy Names College

Sue Lawrence, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. Stanley Lawrence, 5 Corte Cordova, San Rafael, and Sandra McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merton D. McDonald, 89 Birch Avenue, Corte Madera, have been named to the dean's honors list at the College of the Holy Names, Oakland.

Both students enter their sophomore year this fall. Miss Lawrence was elected president of the sophomore class in an election last spring.

Harold E. Tucker of Garberville, governor of District 513 of Rotary International, will be guest speaker tomorrow at the noon meeting of the Novato Rotary Club at Cloud Five.

AT RUSSIAN RIVER

Pageant Of Fire Mountain Slated

GUERNEVILLE—This weekend, for the 16th year, torchlit canoes will dart down the Russian River and a magic mountain will erupt in flame to write a happy ending to an Indian love story.

It's the Pageant of Fire Mountain, which ushers in Indian Summer at this redwood resort area, an hour's drive north of the Bay Area.

Originally a local affair, the pageant attracted 15,000 viewers last year. The audience can enjoy the spectacle from Johnson's Beach, and the fiery show across the river is reflected in the waters named by Russian fur-hunters 150 years ago.

This year Indian dances and songs will be augmented by a prologue telling of the seven flags which have flown over this segment of the Redwood Empire. (British, Spanish, Russian, Mexican Empire, Mexican Republic, California Republic, United States.)

Shows are both Saturday and Sunday at 8 p.m. Admission is free, but the Guerneville Chamber of Commerce, sponsor, has a section of reserved seats on sale.

Guerneville is reached from the Bay Area over Highway 101, turning west at Cotati through Sebastopol.

Marin United Crusade Drive Aides Named

Chairmen of the speakers' bureau and special events committee for the Marin United Crusade campaign were announced today by Charles J. Francis, general campaign chairman.

William W. Davison of Kentfield, a retired vice president of Standard Oil Co., heads the speakers' bureau. Troy Carey of Greenbrae, retired sales manager for Fiberboard Corp., was named chairman of the special events committee. Other members of Carey's committee are Richard Nave and Irving Chapman Jr. of Novato and David Estes of San Rafael.

Marin Estates Membership May Expand

A proposal to offer associate membership in the Marin Estates Homeowners Assn. to residents who don't own their homes may be discussed by the group's board at a meeting at 8 p.m. today at the home of H. S. Norville, president, at 126 Granada Drive, Corte Madera.

Two officers have moved away and been replaced, said Norville. Vice president Robert Sirpless has moved to Arizona and been replaced by John Gates of 2 Paloma Drive, engineering supervisor for television station KPIX. Carolyn Laney, treasurer, moved to Sonoma and was replaced by Lois McLain, supervisor of employee funds for the Bank of America, who recently moved into 6 Paloma with her mother.

The association for the first time will hold its annual picnic away from the subdivision, said Norville. The event, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sept. 14, will be held at Lake Lagunitas.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Good Bridge Player Must Also Be A Good Policeman

A policeman is trained to look for suspicious behavior. He pays no attention to people who are walking in a normal manner; he jumps into action if he sees somebody skulking along.

A good bridge policeman must be ready to skewer the skulker at the bridge table.

West led the jack of hearts, and South breathed more comfortably when dummy's queen held the first trick. Unfortunately for him, he was still not home.

DIAMONDS

If South went after diamonds, he would win four diamonds, two hearts, and two clubs.

West, who surely had both missing aces for his double, would take the ace of diamonds and knock out the ace of hearts.

South couldn't make his contract by force so decided to see how far he could get by stealth. He therefore led a club to his hand and returned the jack of spades toward dummy.

SKULDUGGERY

This was an obvious bit of skulduggery. West should have said to himself: "What can the wretch be doing with spades? Why isn't he working on the diamonds like a normal human being?"

From this kind of alert questioning it would be just a step to putting up the ace of spades.

West would then knock out the ace of hearts. South would have to lead diamonds very soon, and then West would take the ace of diamonds and the hearts.

FOOLISH

When the hand was actually played, West foolishly played a low spade on South's jack — hoping that South was about to take a losing finesse to a queen that East couldn't possibly hold.

This allowed South to steal one spade trick. Now he could switch to diamonds and run

Today is Thursday, Sept. 5, the 248th day of 1963 with 117 to follow.

Thet moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning star is Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars, Saturn and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1670, William Penn was arrestde in London for holding a Quaker meeting.

In 1774, the First Continental Congress assembled in secret at Philadelphia.

In 1882, 10,000 workmen took part in the first Labor Day parade at New York City.

A thought for the day: Bertrand Russell commented: "It is preoccupation with possession, more than anything else, that prevents men from living freely and nobly."

Are you sales-safety minded?

DO YOU KNOW THAT 70% OF ALL SALESPEOPLE SELL BY ACCIDENT? PROFESSIONAL SELLING TECHNIQUES CAN PREVENT THESE ACCIDENTS FROM HAPPENING.

You can learn to sell professionally on purpose and climb towards the level of the 20% of the American salesmen who sell 80% of our gross national product.

Some typical comments by respected Marin citizens who have increased their ability to sell:

MILTON M. CERF, Manager, BANKERS LIFE INS. CO. OF IOWA, 217 Marino Drive, San Rafael. "Two months after completing the program I had the biggest month I have ever had in the life insurance business . . . 26 cases for $515,500.00."

JIM PICCHI, PICCHI REALTY CO., 1200 Grant Ave., Novato. "One of my salesmen has increased his production 41% because of this training."

STEEN SCHELLENBERG, PROVIDENT MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE CO., 80 Melville, San Anselmo. "Too bad your Sales Course is not paid for by the increase in the production of your alumni; you'd be fat, rich and retired. My Sales volume as of July, 1963 is $1,560,000.00 and I rank within the top ten nationally for my company."

WILLIAM REISNER, WYNMAN-BROWN DENTAL SUPPLY, 56 Pt. San Pedro Rd., San Rafael. "At the time I joined your program, I was already the top Salesman for my firm. It was rather surprising to my employer that during the summer, while 50% of the people upon whom I call were on vacation, my sales increased 150%."

DOUBTFUL DAN

couldn't believe there was a level lot like this one left in Marin County. "A lifetime dream about to come true," he stated. You could see the wheels turning in Dan's mind. A lot large enough for a home, pool and play area. Dan didn't buy it, because his company transferred him next day unexpectedly, but you have the opportunity to realize your lifelong dream. Give us a call; we will be happy to show you the lot and explain the potential.

'61 VOLKS
$1150

Both of these cars are in perfect condition. We don't get much call for foreign cars, thus the reason for the lower selling price.

SUNROOF
Light green with matching fully vinyl trim. Radio and heater. Clean as a whistle inside and out. Traded by original buyer on new Buick Skylark. Average Blue Book selling price shows $1250, but we'll sell for $1150.

SEDAN
Medium blue sedan with like new full vinyl trim. Radio and heater, w/w tires. Low mileage local car that was traded on new Buick. Again Blue Book shows $1350 as average selling price, but we'll sell for $1150.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

High Red Blood Cell Count May Mean Any Of Several Illnesses

VAN DELLEN

The Aymara Indians, living high in the Andes, have red blood cell counts of 8 million per cubic millimeter. This is normal for them and not indicative of disease. But the same count among white men at sea level is abnormal. The average count for them is 4,500,000 and measurements above 6 or 7 million mean polycythemia.

Some of the victims living at sea level have polycythemia for the same reasons as the Aymara Indians. The body lacks sufficient oxygen and more cells are manufactured by the bone marrow to carry what little oxygen exists. These men and women usually have a chronic lung disorder or a congenital heart lesion. Congestion of the skin capillaries, with too many cells, produces the deep red flush to the skin. Nothing need be done, because the body is compensating for the defect.

ON THE OTHER hand, some otherwise healthy people have too much blood (polycythemia rubra) for reasons unknown. The count can be lowered with radioactive phosphorus, yttrium-90, or bloodletting (venesection). Why is treatment necessary? Most victims develop weakness, headaches, prostration, dizziness, abdominal pains, and neuritis. Swelling or a sensation of fullness of the abdomen is noted. Lowering the count leads to marked improvement.

But this is only a part of the story. Those with true polycythemia have a much larger volume of blood that is more viscid (sticky) than normal. They bleed easily into the skin and other organs; clots form in the blood vessels and plug them. This is the serious aspect of the disease and is the main reason why treatment for this type of polycythemia is needed.

A THIRD FORM of the disease usually is due to a temporary loss of the liquid part of blood which in turn concentrates in the cells. This variety follows severe diarrhea or sweating, persistent vomiting, and shock. Stress also can bring on a significant increase in the number of red cells. The florid expression of the hard driving tycoon is recognized as stress polycythemia.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

SPIDER VEINS

H. A. writes: What causes broken veins in the legs? I'm 15 years old and never had these unsightly things before. Someone told me it was due to stretching exercises in the gym. Is this true?

REPLY

No. As a rule, no cause can be found. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on spider veins.

IS SCIATICA CATCHING?

J. W. writes: Is sciatica catching? My brother and I developed it at the same time and now our family doctor has it.

REPLY

This possibility exists provided it is true sciatica caused by a virus. On the other hand, 90 per cent of all cases of sciatica are caused by a slipped disk in the lower spine. In this respect, the experience is coincidental.

NONSECRETING SINUS

M. R. writes: What is meant by a dry sinus condition?

REPLY

Possibly sinuses that do not secrete normal mucous but become dry and crusted. Pain and aching in the area result.

BLOOD RENEWAL

I. V. writes: How long after donating blood do you get it back?

REPLY

Four to six weeks.

COLITIS

C. B. writes: Is colitis an infection of the colon?

REPLY

Yes, in the strict sense. But the word usually refers to spastic colitis or irritable colon, which is caused by nervousness or harsh, coarse foods.

RETINAL ARTERIES

Mrs. B. writes: Can high blood pressure weaken the eyesight?

REPLY

Yes, via the retinal arteries. High blood pressure encourages arteriosclerosis and the vessels in the retina frequently are involved.

Paid circulation makes a strong free press

A newspaper, like a tree, can be only as strong as its roots.

And its "roots" are the paid subscriptions, spreading far and wide throughout the community.

With them, a newspaper becomes an organic, living thing. Responsible to the community, wanted by its readers, it can be flexible in the changing winds of opinion, and firm on principle. For its roots go deep. It "belongs."

It can take a stand (though you may not always agree with it) because it has something to stand on—the intimate knowledge of the community and its needs.

Without paid subscriptions, a newspaper is rootless. In fact, it becomes a throw-away... a tumbleweed publication that comes, unasked for, to your doorstep.

Here at the Independent-Journal, we know that your readership is not given lightly. It must be earned. And a newspaper worth reading must be worth paying for—or pay the price of not being read.

A strong, free press, then, is no give-away. It doesn't exist in a vacuum. It doesn't grow from without, but from within the community.

Today, our official paid circulation is the highest in our history. Which means that 2 out of 3 families in Marin County believe in the oldest economic law of all—that you get what you pay for.

•

Independent-Journal circulation is audited and verified by the nationally-respected Audit Bureau of Circulations. On record for all to see.

Graham Says 'No Excuses'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham told an audience of more than 15,000 that God will not listen to any excuses on judgment day.

"The Bible teaches that there will be a day," Graham said, "for which all other days were made, when the whole universe will be gathered before the judgment."

Graham said last night that "when all excuses have been made, God, who keeps an absolutely perfect record, will say: 'There is no excuse'."

Graham is in the last week of his 21-day Los Angeles crusade.

Brown Takes Look At Berlin Wall

BERLIN (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California wound up a six-weeks' tour of Europe with a look at the wall erected by the East German Communists.

Building of the wall was "a negative act," he said.

Brown also conferred with West Berlin's mayor, Willy Brandt. Brown's wife, and daughter Kathleen, accompanied him on the tour.

San Rafael Man Arraigned For Possessing Dope

Barry Brian Gibbs, 23, San Rafael machinist, was arraigned in court yesterday on charges of possessing marijuana and drug injection paraphernalia.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court set bail at $2,625 and referred the case to the public defender. Gibbs was scheduled to appear in court today with the public defender, or his own lawyer if he can afford one.

San Rafael police caught Gibbs Tuesday afternoon after his car rammed a parked vehicle on Mission Avenue. Officers found needle marks on Gibbs' forearms. A search of Gibbs' room at Mission Inn turned up marijuana in an envelope, a hypodermic set, and a .38-caliber revolver.

California Wine Shipments Jump

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—January through July California wine shipments were up 6 per cent from 1962, the California Wine Institute announced today.

It set the 1963 figure at 74,924,875 gallons, compared with 70,538,022 last year. All three types of wine—table, sparkling and dessert — rose, with the table wines leading the way at 13 per cent.

Golf Clubs Stolen From Tiburon Home

A burglar slipped into the basement of a Tiburon home and stole $220 worth of equipment including a set of golf clubs, the owner reported to the sheriff Tuesday night.

Proposed Aqueduct Progresses

Negotiations for a contract and working agreements on a Marin-Sonoma county aqueduct have progressed to the point where a report will be made to the Marin County Board of Supervisors next Tuesday afternoon, the North Marin County Water District board was told Tuesday night by Jerome B. Gilbert, district manager. Gilbert and William R. Seeger, manager of the Marin Municipal Water District, have been authorized by their boards to carry on the negotiations for the water boards for Marin County.

A proposal for the aqueduct to bring water from the Warm Springs Dam on Dry Creek, was made to the two counties on Aug. 14. The study had been prepared on the 65-million-dollar, 50-year-project by the Sonoma County Water Conservation District engineers.

"We hope to have a workable contract ready so the boards of supervisors of both counties can make a decision on whether to go ahead with that project or the North Bay aqueduct before the Dec. 1 deadline set by the state," Gilbert said.

The North Marin board also:

1. Awarded a $3,752 contract for an air compressor to Chicago Pneumatic Tool Co., lowest of three bidders.

2. Purchased the water main into Raphael Village for $2,460 from the Air Force. The main had been leased by the district for more than 10 years.

3. Approved extension agreements for Jade Gardens on Vallejo Avenue, Novato Pines subdivision of 34 lots on Novato Boulevard, Tropicana Estates of 26 lots on Simmons Lane, and Henry M. Weyrauch and Michael J. Sandback for two lots on McClay Road.

Blair House contains rare Chippendale chairs, fine Aubuson carpets and candlesticks wrought by silversmith Paul Revere.

First Service Tomorrow For New Rabbi

Rabbi Morris Schussheim of Oakland will conduct his first services for Congregation Kol Shofar tomorrow.

Schussheim, who was rabbi for a Providence, R.I., temple for 40 years, replaces Rabbi David Coren, who will head a Fresno congregation.

After leaving the Providence congregation in 1962, Schussheim took a tour of the world and spent a half-year studying at Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

Schussheim received a bachelor's degree from City College of New York and a master's degree from Columbia University. He was awarded an honorary doctorate in education by Rhode Island College of Education and a doctor of divinity degree by Hebrew Theological Seminary of America.

He has served as treasurer of the Rabbinical Assn. of America and as a member of the association's board of directors. He was president of the New England branch of the association.

The congregation's services will be held at 8:15 p.m. at the Jewish Community Center, Mission and Forbes avenues, San Rafael.

Red China Starts Russ Border Buildup

Development Of Regional Parks Is Topic

Development of regional parks in Marin and the Bay Area will be discussed at a special meeting of the State Recreation Commission Sept. 12 at 9 a.m. in the Marin County Civic Center.

Commission chairman Betty J. Forry of Marinwood said yesterday that the all-day meeting will be held "to discover the reaction of local groups to the idea that we need recreation areas which will serve the entire area."

Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco will be the first speaker at the meeting, to be held in the board of supervisors chambers. He will discuss San Francisco's role in development of parks.

"The commission wants to find out what the state might do in encouraging regional parks in urban areas," Mrs. Forry said. "The regional park is one which serves a need not provided by overnight parks nor local community recreation districts. Several meetings similar to this will be conducted throughout the state in metropolitan areas."

Invitations to the meeting have been sent to more than 300 agencies, including boards of supervisors and city councils, conservation groups and recreation boards.

Other speakers will include representatives of the East Bay Regional Park System in Alameda County; park districts in New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania; the Assn. of Bay Area Governments and the Federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

The commission will hold its regular meeting Sept. 13 at 9:30 a.m. in the Civic Center to review other proposals for park development in the state.

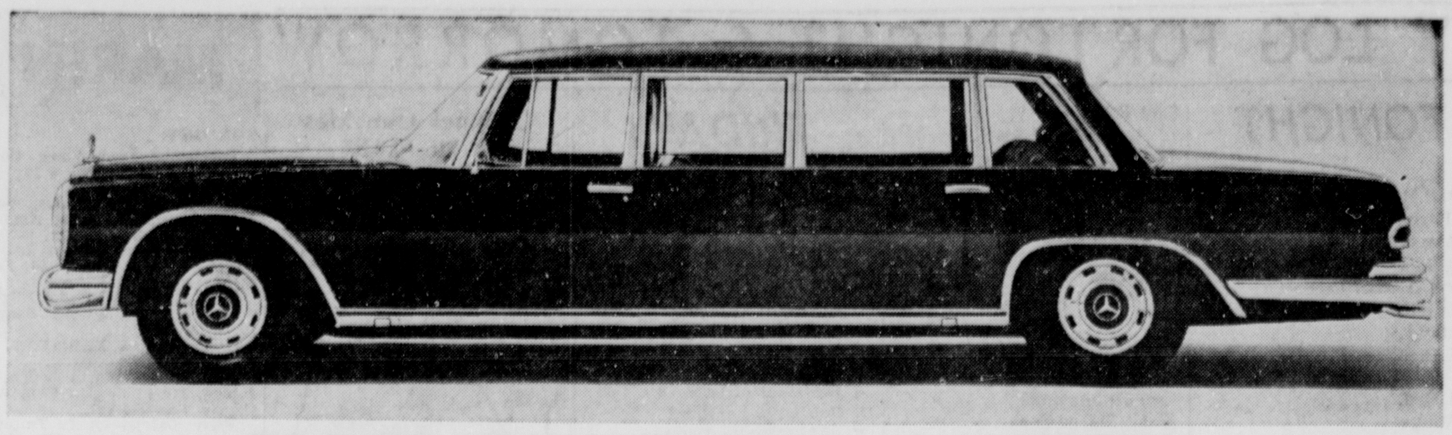
SPEAKING OF KEEPING COOL . . .

Shivering over what they're promoting are a couple of Marin market operators: Robert Vannucci (left) of Jolly Stores and Joseph Saccone of United Markets. They're cooling off as they read a proclamation of the county supervisors declaring this "Frozen Food Buy Month." The temperature is right for the frozen food cases behind them. As for Vannucci and Saccone, why, they're cool, man, cool. (Independent-Journal photo)



GRANDE MERCEDES PULLMAN LIMOUSINE

This 1964 Mercedes-Benz limousine will make its U.S. debut in November. It is equipped with three rows of seats and will carry seven or eight passengers. A central dividing partition contains a small bar, space for a lady's vanity case and two small folding tables with reading lights. The Grand Mercedes is also available in a smaller version for five or six passengers. Cars will be sold through Rossi Garage, San Rafael.

McCarthy Tells Drive To Regain Legislature

A new tax program, "brutal partisanship" and proposed withholding of state income taxes are the basis for a drive by the Republican Party to regain control of the State Legislature, State Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) said in a Los Angeles speech last night.

In his talk to the Sunset Young Republicans, McCarthy also made a new call for party unity:

"If a minority among us insists on dividing our ranks over senseless and petty political differences, then we might just as well write off 1964 to the Kennedys and the CDC."

The state senator blasted Gov. Edmund G. Brown for a program to tax employers after promising no new taxes, and said that no new taxes were needed.

He also blamed Brown for action in the legislature during the closing days of the special session, when the Democrats in the Assembly voted to eliminate Republicans from committee chairmanships. He said the state has come close to boss rule.

On withholding taxes, he argued that leaders of both parties have strongly opposed the program and said this issue alone will defeat Democratic legislators who support it.

Religious Art Class Planned

A University of California Extension class in religious art and architecture will begin Sept. 17 at College of Marin in Kentfield.

Jane K. Dillenberger of San Anselmo, a former lecturer in art at the Drew Theological Seminary, New Jersey, will teach the course, to be held starting at 7:30 p.m. Lectures will cover art from the renaissance to the present.

Enrollment will be accepted at the first meeting.

The 31.2-square mile area of New York's Manhattan Island is assessed at a valuation of almost 16 billion dollars, according to building authorities at Allied Chemical's Barrett Division.
